Fire rips through Bay St. home

by Jeff Nazzaro

Wilmington firefighters extinguished a house blaze on Bay Street Sunday afternoon, but not before it destroyed the home's inside. No one was hurt in the fire.

Responding to a 911 call routed by Wilmington Police, firefighters arrived at 30 Bay St. to find smoke pouring out of all the house's openings and fire raging out of the lower windows, according to Lt. Ed Bradbury, who was in charge of the scene.

Bradbury quickly determined that none of the four members of the Breault family were inside the house. By his own account, he did this by "asking the most distraught person I could find" - who in this case turned out to be the homeowner.

"The first thing I want to make sure is there is no one in there," Bradbury said.

With that question positively settled, Bradbury organized Wilmington firefighters into an attack line to battle the blaze. Bradbury said that the fire was extinguished in around 15 minutes.

The "working" fire drew help from firefighters from Reading and North Reading. Engine 4 and Ladder 1 responded from Wilmington.

Though firefighters subdued the blaze quickly, most of the first floor furnishings and pretty much the entire inside of the house was destroyed, according to Bradbury, who said the house would likely have to be gutted.

With three of the four family members home when the fire broke out, the day could obviously have proved tragic.

The family is crediting 16-year-old Samantha Breault with first detecting the fire. Samantha told her father and sister Jacqueline that she smelled smoke, allowing all three to flee the house before the fire engulfed it.

Despite the heavy damage to the inside of the house, Bradbury said there was no structural damage. In fact, he reported, an unsuspecting person driving or walking past the house would probably not even know a fire had struck.

Bradbury said there was "nothing suspicious" about the fire and that he is ruling it "accidental" right now. He added that accidental fires are still usually investigated for a cause, a process he said is handled by Fire Chief Dan Stewart, who is on vacation this week.

Joe Furguson, of March Road, was the first responder to the fire at his neighbor's house. Furguson used a garden hose from next door to attempt in vain to extinguish the fire before firefighters knocked it down. It was a dramatic contrast to see the volume of water delivered by a fire hose as compared to the garden hose.

Marion Street to move?

by Jeff Nazzaro

The Wilmington Conservation Commission will Wednesday (Aug. 7) entertain two agenda items that mark the first stages of development of large parcels of land in the Marion Street area. Plans on file at Town Hall include those to relocate Marion Street and for a 10-home subdivision.

Local surveyor Jeffrey Miller has filed a request for the determination of applicability with the commission on behalf of two property owners, Velma Emery of Chestnut Street and Barbara Delaney of Marion Street Extension.

The request is to relocate the entrance to Marion Street 100 feet south, which would run it between the barn there and a brook, within the 100-foot buffer zone for wetlands. To work in that zone requires permission from the commission.

Conservation Agent John Keeley said the ultimate aim of relocating the street is to accomodate a subdivision on an approximate 12-15 acre parcel of land between Marion and Chestnut streets. There is no plan on file at Town Hall for a subdivision on this land.

All land in the area is currently zoned R-20.

Keeley said he doubts the commission will approve the request, but in that case expects the applicant to come back with a notice of intent. With both processes, the commission investigates wetland issues, including the verification of wetland boundaries.

The notice of intent process is far more exhaustive and involves a public hearing. Wednesday's item on the relocation is a public meeting - the public is welcome, but comments are not solicited.

A public hearing will be held that same night on a notice of intent filed by Norse Environmental Services, Inc. of Tyngsboro on behalf of Wilmington development firm Universe Construction.

The notice is for permission to build 10 single family dwellings, drainage, utilities and the upgrade of roughly 1,000 feet of Marion Street. The proposed work is within the 100-foot wetlands buffer zone there.

If the conservation commission approves the application, the next step would for Universe to seek subdivision approval from the planning board.

Kidsplace to close for a week

by Jeff Nazzaro

If your playground plans regularly include Kidsplace at the Shawsheen School, you may want to change them for the third week in August. Then again, you might not.

Courtesy of the Wilmington Baptist Fellowship church, in conjunction with the First Baptist Church of Woodstock,Ga., Kidsplace will be getting a facelift from Aug. 19-23.

Last fall, parishioners from the Woodstock First Baptist, which boasts a membership of 4,000, visited Wilmington for a couple of hours, liked what they saw, and signed on to pitch in.

"They liked Wilmington a lot and they wanted to do something to help the town," Wilmington Baptist Fellowship Pastor Daryn Marsh said.

After talking to the town manager, Marsh got the go-ahead for the project, which, save for water to power a pressure water, won't cost the town a dime. The project itself will include a thorough washing of Kidsplace, including the sanding off of graffiti, and represerving using a water sealant.

About eight Georgians will join at least half a dozen Wilmingtonites for the project, with anyone else who wants to help out welcome. Work is tentatively scheduled to commence at Kidsplace at 9:00 each morning and go into the afternoon.

As a result of the work, Kidsplace will be closed that week. Still, the Baptists will provide activities for any children that normally use the play area if they wish.

On Wednesday night of that week, members of the two parishes are also inviting townspeople to attend a praise and celebration concert featuring prerecorded Christian contemporary music on the Town Common.

If the Kidsplace project goes off well from both the town's and the churches' perspectives, the First Baptist Church of Woodstock will be looking to do a project a year with the Baptist Fellowship in Wilmington.

2 Rocks, 2 signs, 2 late

by Bill Conlon

Opportunity knocked at the Town Crier last week, but we missed it. We had a golden opportunity to indulge our sick passion for puns, but we missed out.

Last week, the front page of the Wilmington Town Crier contained a headline stating "Rock Resigns."

The headline described how Peter Rock gave up his position as the Wilmington public school Director of Administration and Finance. But we had the chance to use that same headline twice, in the same edition, if we had been quick enough.

Rocco's Restaurant & Groceria on Main Street had a new sign put up last week. The familiar (if old) red metal sign was replaced with a new green sign, and we had a photo of the new sign being hoisted up.

Rocco DePasquale -- "Rock" -- got a new sign. Re-Signs? Get it?

We didn't. Oh well. Maybe next time.

Tee one up for Joe - by Aug. 31

The second annual Joe Bamberg Open Golf Tourney is to be held this year at Hickory Hall Golf Club in Methuen. The proceeds from this year's event will be donated to both the Bamberg family and to the Miami Project in Florida.

Joe Bamberg, who starred as a soccer goalie and is a member of the Wilmington High School Band was injured in a freak accident last summer.

The Miami Project, which was started by football great Nick Bounoconti after his son Mark was paralyzed while playing football, continues its cutting edge research with spinal cord injuries.

Organizers are telling us this fun day of golf promises to be bigger and better than last year's event, and spots are filling up fast.

The tournament will again be a shotgun scramble format. There will be a hole-in-one prize, a brand new Honda Accord plus many more prizes and surprises with a fabulous dinner generously hosted by the Fiorenza family at the Casa di Fior in Wilmington to follow.

Anybody interested in golfing or helping out can contact John Bonish at Colonial Park Liquors, 658-0055, Desi Catena, 657-8349 or Mike Conrad at 957-6733. Reservations only; deadline is Aug. 31.

Skating rink in progress in Tewksbury

State Rep. James R.Miceli (D-20th Middlesex) has announced that the House recently engrossed two bills specific to the town of Tewksbury.

The first bill, S.2079, will allow the town of Tewksbury, through its town manager, to enter into license and lease agreements pertaining to a parcel of land that is currently being transferred from the state to the town of Tewksbury. The parcel is located on Livingston Street just north of the Tew-Mac airport.

In 1994, Rep. Miceli was successful in putting through legislation to allow the state to transfer the ownership of the land. S.2079 is the second step toward constructing, maintaining, and operating a new skating rink on this parcel of land.

The second bill, H.6117, will allow the town of Tewksbury to accept control of certain streets located throughout the town.

Both bills currently await further action in the Senate.

Tewksbury to get $175,000 for new ambulance

State Senator John O'Brien (D-Andover) has joined with Rep. James Miceli (D-Wilmington) in announcing that the capital bond bill which was given initial approval by the Massachusetts Legislature includes funding for the Town of Tewksbury for the purchase of a new ambulance.

During debate in the Senate, Senator O'Brien sponsored an amendment to the capital bond bill which would provide the Town of Tewksbury with $175,000 for the purchase of a new ambulance. This amendment was adopted by the Senate and a similar measure, sponsored by Rep. Miceli, was included in the capital bond bill approved by the House of Representatives.

"There is a heavy demand for ambulance services shared between the Town of Tewksbury and Tewksbury Hospital," remarked Sen. O'Brien. "These funds will go a long way in ensuring that Tewksbury has the best possible ambulance service available and that the Town is able to respond to urgent medical concerns throughout the community."

"I feel that this appropriation is justified," added Rep. Miceli. "Tewksbury Hospital is a state facility which houses patients from all over the Commonwealth. The taxpayers of Tewksbury should not be forced to pay for this ambulance, so therefore I felt it appropriate to budget this time in a state appropriation."

The capital bond bill now goes before a House-Senate conference committee charged with resolving the differences between the two proposals. The bond bill agreed upon by the conferees will be subject to the approval of the House and Senate before being submitted to the Governor.

NESWC cash from state to clear the air

The Mass. State Senate recently overwhelmingly approved a line item in the FY-97 capital budget authorizing partial reimbursement for air pollution control expenses for Wilmington and the other 22 NESWC communities.

This action followed similar action taken last week by the House of Representatives. The $22 million authorization is a major step forward for the half million taxpayers in NESWC communities seeking relief from the substantial financial burden associated with unfunded federal and state requirements for cleaner air.

Steven Rothstein, NESWC Executive Driector said, "The overwhelming support for this funding in both the House and Senate demonstrates the legislature's commitment to environmental improvements that will benefit all residents in the Commonwealth.

"State Senator Bruce E. Tarr and State Reps. James R. Miceli and Marianne W. Brenton are to be commended for their leadership on this important initiative that will help their constituents save money and will help all Mass. residents breath easier."

Rothstein also noted, "This reimbursement, if enacted into law and funded, will significantly slow the growth of trash fees for the NESWC communities."

Following approval by the State Legislature, which is expected next week, the budget will be forwarded to the governor for his signature.

Robert Moroney, chairman of the NESWC Board of Driectors, added, "NESWC appreciates the Commonwealth's assistance in helping our communities meet state and federal requirements."

It's YOUR Money

PUTTING RETIREMENT MONEY ON HOLD

Downsized? Between jobs? If you're not sure about your next job and its pension status, take steps to protect the lump-sum payout from your old employer by placing the entire amount into a special IRA rollover. This preserves your right to use five- or ten-year averaging at a later date if it's advantageous to you.

According to IRA rules, this IRA rollover should be dedicated solely to the lump-sum payout, unsullied by any annual pay-ins, whether made before or after the rollover; otherwise, the entire amount may become taxable if you put it into the retirement plan of the subsequent employer.

The safest way to roll over lump-sum retirement money is via check from the employer or the plan administrator directly to the IRA rollover account. This makes certain that the funds are rolled over within the 60-day limit enforced strenuously by the Internal Revenue Service and that no withholding taxes are levied on the funds.

Is your retirement money protected? Check it out with the tax accountants at Work now = workout

by Bill Conlon

We're saved! Oh, hallelujia!

The U.S. Surgeon General recently announced that you don't need to visit a gym to get enough exercise to maintain good health! Thank goodness!

Millions of us have just slipped off the hook! Other millions have just lost their bragging rights. Ha!

Instead of running 1.5 miles (who, me?) one gets the same benefit from a half-hour of dancing. Dancing! You've gotta love it! How can you lose?

I hate exercise. I don't mind doing 12-ounce curls and brass rail chinups, and I'll even mow the lawn now and again (when the blades start tickling my backside through the hammock netting), but that's about the limit of my voluntary sweat output. I despise gyms, probably due to long-buried memories of high school, but I'll gladly spend three hours tilling the garden. Now, the Surgeon General says garden work is exercise! Huzzah!

From where I sit, picking up blocks of steel is serious work. People get paid big (i.e. union) wages to pick up blocks of steel in a factory. But to pick them up then place them back down again, in exactly the same spot, boggles my mind. They call it weight-lifting. I call it madness.

Now, I can get the same "credit" for moving the woodpile closer to the cellar door. Well, isn't that just ducky! You weightlifters, take a hike!

The joy of running escapes me. I'll can run like the wind, if there's a bear behind me or a dinner bell ringing, but I'm mystified by those runners who jog mile after mile, only to end up exactly where they started from. Why? Why do all that work, with nothing to show for it but sweaty clothes?

Washing and waxing the car for 45 minutes is now as good for you as 15 minutes of skipping rope. Delightful! I've got to wash the truck anyway. Only this time, I get "credit" for it! I'm thrilled!

Shovelling snow is now seen as vigorous exercise. We knew that all along! Washing the floors or pushing a baby stroller are now honored as real expenditures of sweat and energy. Reality, at long last, has arrived.

For years we've endured the boasting of the "workout" crowd, with their Jane Fonda videos and that annoying little creep Simmons. Sweat suits, crossover shoes, Thigh-Masters and that new Nordic-Whatchamacallit that bounces like a hobby horse. (Speaking of bouncing, what does the General say about ... um ... adult horizontal calisthenics? I'll wager that's healthy exercise, too, if it lasts longer than two minutes.) (Ahem.)

Take heart, couch spuds! Whatever work you do, if any, is now seen as healthful exercise. Down with Lycra Spandex! Down with indoor jogging machines that make people look like hamsters on an exercise wheel!

We now have our own workouts -- known as work! Take out the trash, change your oil and do your laundry, and you, too, can brag about your latest workout. Yes, indeed! Olympic pool vacuuming, rake lifting, and my personal favorite, the 1.5 meter hammock push!

Down with the marriage test

by Bill Conlon

I knew I had to get stuck. I saw it coming. But this is an OUTRAGE!

In order to obtain a marriage license in our fair Commonwealth, the law requires both parties to submit to a blood test. It's a stupid law, but we all have to follow the laws, don't we? Even the stupid ones.

"His" blood is tested for the presence of Syphilis, a venereal disease that can be contagious. "Her" blood is tested for Syphilis too, she is also tested for Rubella, or German Measles, which may cause mental retardation during a pregnancy. Grumble, grumble, grumble ... alright, I'll go get the damn blood test. Grumble, grumble, grumble.

But guess what -- most health insurance plans don't cover the blood test! So, we had to pay it out of pocket! On top of all the other costs involved in a wedding, from the florist to the minister, we had to pay another $104.25 for a blood test that is utterly unnecessary! What a stupid law!

According to the Department of Public Health statistics, only 287 cases of Syphilis were detected in 1994, down from 440 in 1993. That's it. And the marriage test turned up a single-digit number of those Syphilis cases, for a success rate of 0.001 percent. With 40,000 to 50,000 marriages annually in the Commonwealth, multiplied by $100 a pop, that's about $5 million a year being sucked out of our pockets at the worst imaginable time -- when we're pinching pennies to pay for the wedding! Stupid!

Syphilis is pretty nasty. The sores, the icky discharge ... I should think the average person might notice something wrong down below and have it checked immediately, rather than waiting to get a marriage license.

But the cost! That $104 we paid amounts to a "wedding tax," and this at a time when "family values" are stressed by politicians. Please, get married and form a stable "nuclear family," but oh, by the way, first you'll need to fork out $104 for an unnecessary blood test.

Michael Whelan, at the Mass. Department of Public Health's Sexually Transmitted Disease (STD) division, said he's been pushing for years to have the Syphilis test stricken from the books, but our Legislators don't even bother looking at the proposal. It seems they have plenty of time to print up commendations for everybody, for every reason, but this archaic and inefficient law isn't worth their consideration? Oh really?

"This is not an effective screening tool for detecting contagious Syphilis," Whelan said. The "positivity" rate is infinitesmal, the cost lands squarely upon young couples at a terribly inconvenient time, and the only ones who gain are the laboratories doing the blood work.

Whelan said Alabama has dropped its Syphilis testing requirement, but Massachusetts still keeps the law in place.

As for blood tests for HIV, Whelan was not enthusiastic. People getting married aren't exactly prime candidates for HIV infection, he said, adding that three states did impose an HIV testing requirement, only to see their marriage rates plummet. It's not that couples weren't getting married in those states, he said, but they instead skipped to the neighboring state to get their marriage license and thus avoid paying for the HIV test. (Now I wish we'd gone to New Hampshire, where there is no blood test requirement.)

And if the Massachusetts "marriage tax" wasn't bad enough, I hit the roof when I learned that Medicaid does pay for the pre-marital blood work.

So, if you're receiving welfare, you won't get slapped with the "marriage tax" for your blood tests. The taxpayers will pick up the tab! After they pay for their own "marriage tax," that is.

Mr. Miceli, would you please help strike this stupid, inefficient law?

Local Summer Olympics...

The Lawn-athon
A mind-bending (back-breaking) event that tests the endurance of even the most accomplished domestic athlete. Entree boasting the most expensive brand of equipment is usually expected to neighborhhood medal winner, But entrant (usually elderly) with least expensive equipment usually runs away with it.

The Burpee 500
A breathtaking (back-breaking) event that runs a distance of about five hundred simoleons to reach a goal of "please God Let me grow at least one edible tomato."

Letters to the editor

National tradition

Dear Larz:

My name is Dave Lindsey Sr. I am writing to you in response to an article about playing time (or lack of) on the Tewksbury Nationals 11-12 year old stars.

This was the 22nd time I have been asked to assist in preparing the National for the district 14 tournament. We have a long tradition of success.

We [substitute players] under three conditions. One, we sub to improve ourselves. Two, we sub if ahead by seven or more runs and opposition is weak. Three, we sub if ahead by seven or more runs and our pitcher is in complete control. Three times we have had the opportunity to do this.

Lowell Oliviera 10-0, subbed the fourth inning of the game, called in the fifth inning for slaughter/mercy rule. Lawrence Prospect Hill 13-2, subbed in the fourth score 10-2, we should have subbed here but did not. In defense of coaches the game was of extreme importance to our success in the tourney and they didn't want to listen to me again. I apologized to the team explaining my reasons. I hope they understood.

I rarely apologize to parents. I don't care if they understand. Some day if you have time, I'll give you some great stories about teams with liberal substitution practices against us.

In defense of the parent who wrote this article to the local papers: I don't disagree with how she did it. By writing anonymously they can voice their opinion and not involve the team or embarrass their son. By coming to the fence berating the coach, nasty phone calls or writing letters to the board does nothing to solve the problem.

No one has yet approached me this year. If they wish to, I would be happy to explain why their son is not starting. I have already explained rules of substitution. However, this parent was not entirely honest. She is not concerned about the four or five players with limited playing time, she is concerned only about her son. If her son was playing six innings she or he would not be at all concerned about our substitution procedures and you wouldn't have a column.

The Tewksbury National manager is under a great deal of pressure.

We have a long tradition of excellent managers in the program. Recently we have had Dave Lindsey Jr., Tom Sullivan, Tony Ganchi and John O'Neal lead Tewksbury National to district 14 finals.

Before them Frank Correia, Carmen Martorella, Fred Doherty, Al Magiluray, Charlie Doherty and Howie Larrabee all took teams to the finals. All had different styles, all had the same philosophy for success. All followed the same stringent rules and policies. In the last four years we have reached the finals with a different manager each year. Most move on to senior league and out of the program when their kids graduate, but there is always one or two left in the majors to continue the program.

I read [Jamie Pote's] article on Swampscott last year. [He] condemned an outstanding program for its actions in a single game. I have watched them for 25 years. They have a great program with great coaches and fans. We also have a great program, coaches and fans. Over the years we have done a few things we regret. Not playing the kids in Chelmsford was one of them.

For several years [Pote] has been giving Tewksbury National great coverage in the paper and it is appreciated. Each year [he] interviews the managers and they tell [him] the same things. The hardest group ever, close knit, like each other, never quit, etc. The fact is they are Tewksbury National, they are doing what every Tewksbury National team has done for 25 years.

Whether district 14 champion or lose the first game they all worked just as hard, cared just as much, starter or fringe player they come to every practice, never late, always working.

I'm sorry the boy isn't playing. I know he's worked just as hard as the starters. I know he feels badly about not playing. I know he's never late and never misses practice. I know he's at every game cheering for his teammates. I know after every game his parents try to comfort him and encourage him to keep trying.

I don't know who the boy is, but I know all these things because he plays for the Tewksbury National 11-12 year old all-stars and I am proud of him.

Dave A. Lindsey

[Because it was not signed, the letter Mr. Lindsey refers to in this letter never ran in the Town Crier. The Town Crier will print letters anonymously, but only if they are signed for verification. The letter was referred to in last week's Town Crier in an editorial written by sports editor Jamie Pote--Ed.]

Support Question 1

Dear Larz:

Protect Pets and Wildlife (ProPAW) wishes to thank the 200,000 Massachusetts voters who signed the initiative petition to protect wildlife in the Commonwealth.

It was, according to the office of the Secretary of State, the most successful initiative petition in Massachusetts history and will now become Question 1 on the November ballot. There were no paid petitioners; volunteers obtained all 200,000 signatures.

Question 1 would enact three reforms. First, it would ban cruel and indiscriminate body-gripping traps, including the steel-jaw leghold trap. The state Fisheries and Wildlife Board legalized steel traps on land for the first time since 1974, jeopardizing not only furbearing wildlife, but also family pets caught in these deadly devices.

Second, Question 1 would ban the hound hunting of black bears and bobcats. A small group of trophy hunters chooses to hunt these relatively rare animals with packs of dogs. The dogs drive a bear or bobcat into a tree and the hunter then shoots the trapped animal at close range. There is no sport in shooting an animal in a tree.

Finally, Question 1 would eliminate the statutory requirement that hunters and trappers hold five of seven seats on the Fisheries and Wildlife Board, which establishes regulations and policies affecting all wildlife in the Commonwealth.

No state in the nation stacks the deck so heavily in favor of one user group. Question 1 would eliminate this quota and allow the governor to select any qualified resident of the state, whether or not the individual hunts or traps.

ProPAW, a coalition which includes The Humane Society of the United States, the MSPCA, and the Massachusetts Audubon Society, urges all residents to vote "yes" on Question 1 in November.

Aaron Medlock
ProPAW Coordinator

Never a quite moment! While trying to pose with one of the many computers for training, the clients just wouldn't stop calling. Answering the phone is owner Helen Moore, at the keyboard Carla DiBona with Barbara Steinbrecker looking on.

Especially during a slow and unpredictable economy, when a company's projected sales are soft, there may not be enough sales forecasted to warrant hiring regular permanent employees. However there are sales and production enough to warrant two to three months work, therefore, the use of temps is truly the best and most inexpensive way for companies to meet deadlines, etc. The company is relieved of costs to cover for vacations, medical leave, etc. Over the past 15 years Moore has helped hundreds of businesses save thousands of dollars for

*Advertising *Time recruiting *Interviewing *Testing *Checking references *Computer training *Layoffs *Co-pd benefits (Med, Dental, Life Ins., Pensions & FUTA contributions, SUTA, Mass State Health) Etc.

Moore's reasonable hourly bill rates cover all mandatory costs, above, including the temp's hourly bill rates cover all mandatory costs, above, including the temp's hourly wage; the temp is a Moore employee and Moore offers HMO medical insurance plus a variety of other benefits to its employees.

Small and expanding companies can eliminate the heavy recruiting recruiting for hiring permanent people by using the Moore Temp-to-Perm program. "We do all the work." For a specific opening, Moore provides their best person (a second if necessary); submit the resume, set up the interview. The qualified person accepts the assignment as temporary with the option of being hired permanently at a specified time with a small fee paid by the hiring company.

"Our records show over 500 people have been placed either directly or by the temp-to-perm method since Moore started in 1979." Just the past two months they've placed eight people into permanent jobs.

Today, the temporary has the best chance of getting hired if a company is the "hiring mode."

"We work very hard in our recruiting process, carefully making decisions in all temp placements as tough we were making a direct placement. This takes a great deal of time, effort, energy, costs, etc. We gladly accept this work! That's why we've been successful!! We know the value of the temp worker."

Since its opening, Moore Temps has always provided people, not bodies. Moore's commitment to excellence and quality is meeting the customers' requirements at all times, and continually strives to exceed them whenever possible. Moore's priority is and always will be quality service personified!

AMERICAN GUTTER CLEANING CO.
(508) 851-6045

Joe and Carol Rocha say, "It's time to clean your gutters"... and American Gutter is ready!

Family values are important to you. You make decisions based on how they will affect your loved ones. It follows that you would want your home improvements done by a business that applies the same family values in everything they do.

American Gutter Cleaning Co. is that kind of family run company. Joe Rocha established the American Gutter Cleaning Co over 10 years ago. He and his wife, Carol, run the company, along with their highly trained, reliable, and fully insured staff.

Ir gutters aren't cleaned at least once or twice a year, you could be increasing the chance of interior water damage to your home. It's important to have your gutters cleaned and inspected for minor damage before the New England snow and ice arrive, and also in the spring after the maples and other trees have dropped their flowers or any remaining leaves.

If you're like most people and don't look forward to climbing up a ladder to do the job yourself, let American Gutter help you keep that ladder in the shed where it belongs. Their service is prompt, and their prices are reasonable; an average house, with aluminum gutters, is $35-$75. If you purchase a Gutter Cleaning Contract, which includes two cleanings per year, you'll enjoy a 10% discount and receive a free gutter inspection. And now, in addition to cleanings, American Gutter will install your new gutters. If you're planning to install 100 ft or more of new gutters, take advantage of their special $50 discount.

To make arrangements and become a valued customer of the American Gutter Cleaning Co., call (508) 851-6045 today! Don't you think it's well worth it?

Education's "Un-sung Hero"

An innovative program to bring conflict resolution skills to students has earned national honors for a Braintree educator.

Robert Young, an assistant principal at East Middle School in Braintree and a member of the Wilmington School Committee, is one of 80 national winners of the Education's Unsung Heroes Award.

The annual program was created and is sponsored by Seattle based Northern Life Insurance Company, a national provider of retirement plans to teachers. The award recognizes kindergarten through 12th grade educators who develop innovative approaches to teaching.

Young instituted the "Peer Mediation" program, which trained selected eighth grade students to serve as mediators in student conflicts. Nominated at the sixth grade level and trained in seventh grade for 10 weeks, students learned mediation and conflict resolution techniques from The Peace Institute in Washington, D.C. Fist fights, verbal altercations, racial incidents, and suspensions have declined as a result of the program.

Young and the other winners will compete for Northern Life's top awards of $25,000, $10,000 and $5,000, which will be announced this fall. The winning projects will be chosen based on their ability to be implemented on a larger scale to benefit an entire school district. The top three winners will be selected by Northern Life's Educators Advisory Board, which consists of seven prominent educators and administrators from throughout the country.

Education's Unsung Heroes Awards is a program that recognizes and rewards educators who have the vision to pioneer new methods of getting kids excited about learning.

"Robert Young exemplifies the type of educator that we feel will make a difference in the classroom" said Michael Dubes, Northern Life president and CEO. "Northern Life has been working with educators for more than 23 years. We recognize the challenges educators face and are inspired by what educators like Robert have accomplished."

To provide an opportunity for teachers across the country to learn from other educators, the winning projects are available on-line on Northern Life's web site (www.unsungheroes.com). In addition to summaries of all the projects, each month one of the winning projects will be featured in depth. Information on the 1997 Education's Unsung Heroes Awards will be available in late July 1996 on the website or by calling 1-800-426-7050 ext. 2204.

Merrimack Valley Chorus captures silver medal

The Merrimack Valley Chorus of Sweet Adelines was recently named the 1996-97 silver medalist in Springfield, Mass. After an absence of two years from the competition stage, their much anticipated performance excited the Symphony Hall audience and thrilled their family and fans as they placed second out of 22 groups from the New England states and Eastern Canada.

Merrimack Valley Chorus is a show chorus singing four part, a cappella music, complete with choreography and costuming. They give an annual show at the Wakefield Junior High School in November and the chorus and its quartets are well known to audiences throughout New England.

In July, 40 chorus members and friends and family will tour Austria and have been invited to participate in the International Music Festival commemorating Austria's Millennium, performing in Vienna, Salzburg, Graz and Innsbruck.

Women who enjoy singing are invited to visit a rehearsal and "catch the spirit" of the music and camaraderie of the singers. The chorus rehearses Thursdays at the Wilmington Arts Council Building at 7:30 p.m. The group's 70 members come from area towns including Elaine Tucker, Janet Howland, Anita Arsenault, Beth Flanagan, and Jean Nelson, Jane Gately, and Hilda Crescitelli from Wilmington. For further information about membership or performance availability, call 617-284-5889 or 508-459-0935.

ARE YOU PROTECTED?

WHO BEARS INSURANCE RISK?
QUESTION: I am about to buy a home, but I have a question about insurance coverage. What if the house burns down BETWEEN taking title and recording title? Who should bear the loss — the buyer, seller or is it shared by both.
ANSWER: When the issue of risk is not addressed in the contract, it is decided by state law.
If you are the buyer, the lender will require you to bring a paid fire, theft and liability policy to the settlement. If you are the seller, you have a clear interest in the property until a new title has been recorded. Insurance should be maintained until recordation and, preferably, until you have received the sales proceeds.

NEVER GIVE UP THE Insurance on a home you're selling until the new title has been recorded.

Wilmington senior topics

Thanks for the picnic

Now that Commissioners Grace Kirkland and Tom Barrasso's July picnic is over, we extend our thanks to them for a job well done. Grace and Tom thank the volunteers who made goodies and other foods and the seniors who helped them throughout the afternoon.

Christmas fair

The next Commissioners assignment will be Commissioners Marilyn McCarthy and Joe Filipowicz' Senior Citizen Christmas Fair. Marilyn has been busy stapling chance tickets into books. It is her hope that we all make her job a little easier by buying the chance books. Joe is busy on his vacation in Vermont making wooden toys for the shop table.

Remember, the Fair is the seniors' only fund raiser throughout the year. The chance books are the largest contributor of the money made. As was mentioned before, the money supplements the department budget by paying for two therapeutic socials, all shop and craft machines and supplies for classes.

Storage space

We have cleared out a couple of closets to store donated articles that will be sold on tables at the fair. All articles except those that will be on the white elephant table will be accepted at any time now until the Fair at the Center. Those could be knitted, wooden, ceramics gifts and gifts we all received for birthday, anniversary or Christmas and never used because they were not our taste, size or color, they can be used for the Christmas gift table.

When shopping, one may see a nice toy, not too expensive that can be donated to the toy table for children.

House breaks

With summer half way through we are hearing a few stories on housebreaks or attempted breaks. Especially while seniors are on vacation. A few precautions should be taken. The Department of Elder Affairs warns us to install deadbolt locks on our doors; keep lights on at all entrances. If possible install a peep hole in your doors, to allow you to see and identify who is outside the door before you open it.

Never open a door for anyone unless you know who it is. Remember to close and lock your windows before leaving the house or going to bed. If your garage is attached to your house, take the same precautions you do when securing your house. The department also stresses to have all Social Security and pension checks deposited directly into your bank account. If you will be away for a week or so ask a neighbor you trust to watch your house.

Be careful

Elders should be careful about persons asking for donations at the door or on the telephone. Never give any information that would indicate that you live alone and where you live. Scam artists are always hard at work. Unfortunately the older people are the most trusting, making them vulnerable to any scam. There are some very honest fund raising programs that do a tremendous job helping those who cannot help themselves, but check out any of them before sending a donation.

Minuteman home care

Wilmington Home Care is Wilmington's Elder Area Agency. What does that mean to us? Minuteman receives government money to pay for many programs offered to Wilmington and 15 other towns. Many services for our homebound seniors we receive by a referral through Wilmington Elder Services Department.

When a referral is made it could be for the most popular request, a homemaker, followed by Social adult day care, state housing, transportation to Boston hospitals or a lift van to medical treatments at area hospitals., and pre-screenings for nursing home admission. To qualify for MMHC or state services the income levels and what it would cost is:

Cost sharing scheduled, 1996

One person household: $7,628 to $9,304, $5 a month; $9,305 to $10,979, $ 6 a month; $10,980 to $12,125, $18 a month; $12,126 to $12,993, $24 a month; $12,994 to $13,859, $30 a month; $13,860 to $14,724, $45 a month; $14,725 to $15,591, $60 a month; $15,592, $16,455, $85 a month; $16,456 to $17,341, $105 per month.

Just wait until next year

by Jamie Pote

Whenever a team loses in a championship game, they saying "Wait until next year," is always seemed to be said. And for the case of the Wilmington Senior All-Stars, that scenario seems to be a likely case.

With all but two players hopefully coming back next year, the 12-3 loss to the Downey Club of Brockton in the Senior Softball State Championship game in Lynn played on Saturday, will give the team experience in the future.

The game was a lot closer than what the scoreboard read. Wilmington had plenty of chances to score, but they just couldn't get a lucky bounce here or there. Brockton scored six runs in the first inning with outs on two RBI hits, two bases loaded walks and two hitsbatsmen.

Wilmington stranded runners on every inning. Melissa Wolfe was at third base in the first inning, but she couldn't score. In the second inning, Emily King led off with a triple and she too was stranded at third. And in the fourth inning with the bases loaded, and a run already in, a shot up the middle was saved per luck which enabled Brockton to get a second out. The next batter doubled and the game could have been 6-4 if the hit up the middle was not stopped.

More of the unlucky bounces followed as Wilmington continued to leave runners on base. However, after the first inning, the game was pretty much even. And even though they lost this game, they do have a State Championship under its belt from two years ago and this tournament this year, is nothing to be ashamed about.

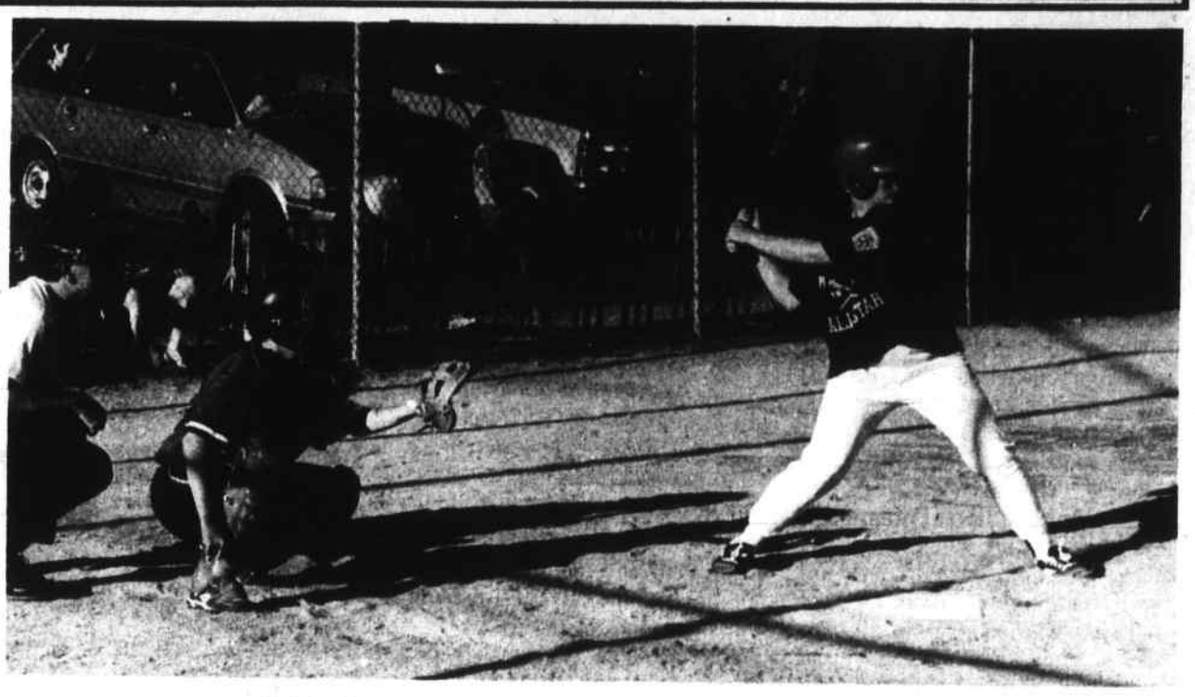

"We got off to a rough start and couldn't get going," said head coach John Lynch. "The girls have nothing to be ashamed about. They had a good team. Whenever we made a mistake, they capitalized on it.

"We had our chances, but they didn't go our way. We might have come out a little flat, but a bounce here or there and we could have been right back in the game. But those things happen.' Lynch said.

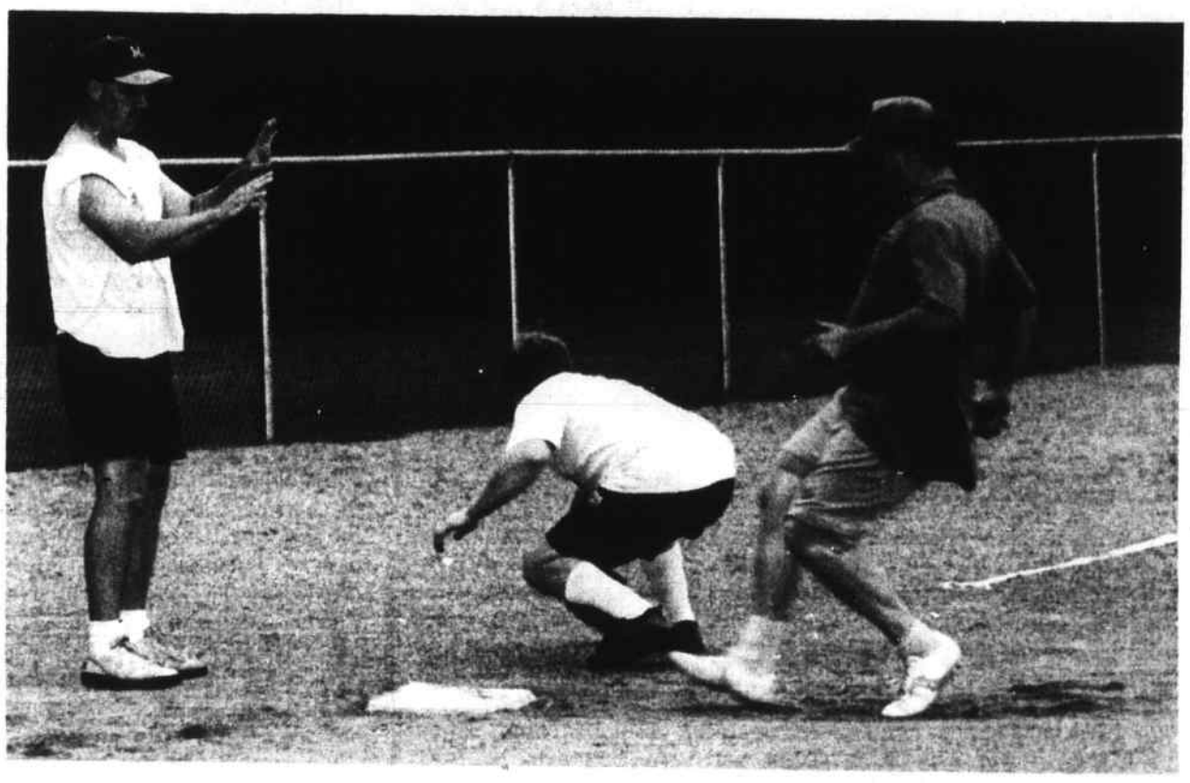

Lynch said all but Wolfe and King have the opportunity to return to the team next year including three players being just 13 years old. He said hopefully a few younger players will develop and perhaps they could be in the making of another championship appearance. But he said he is very porud of this year's group.

"The girls showed themselves very well. We beat some very good teams - the Woburn National team and Salem whose pitcher pitches for Bishop Fenwick. It was fun," Lynch said.

10-year old baseball

Wilmington's entry in the Bay State Baseball Tournament of Champions 10-year old division began play this past week in round two of the tournament.

After posting a very respectable 5-2 record for round one, the Matarazzo brothers/Sons of Italy sponsored team got off to a shaky start with two heartbreaking losses.

On Saturday, July 27, the Wilmington squad traveled to Belmont for a neutral site game against Central Cambridge. Cambridge would start the scoring with three runs in the second inning off of starter Mike Kelley.

Wilmington came back with three runs of its own in the bottom of the inning. Andy Berian, Matt David and Joey Caira started the rally with three straight walks. Robbie Gillis and Peter Olivieri also walked forcing in Berian and David.

With the bases loaded, Kelley delivered a single to center to knock in Caira with the tying runs. Wilmington would take the lead in the fourth inning when Matt David received his second walk of the game. David, after taking second base on a wild pitch, scored on a one out single to center field by Joey Caira making the score 4-3 after four.

In the top half of the fifth, Cambridge would string together three hits, two Wilmington errors and three walks to take the lead 7-4 after five innings. In the bottom of the sixth Wilmington would mount their comeback. Kelley led off with a walk, followed by a single to right from Ken Luongo, Bobbie Sinopoli's walk would load the bases

Heroic ending in Carole Classic

by Jeff Nazzaro

The consensus among the swarms of well-wishers who descended on Merrimack Valley Conference coach Bob Aylward was that his side's thrilling 29-24 victory over the Middlesex League last Thursday at Cawley Stadium couldn't have been scripted any better.

And Aylward, coaching the Tewksbury seniors who led his regular team to nine consecutive MVC wins last season alongside the best from those teams they beat, couldn't have agreed more.

Tewksbury's Mike Torode, Ben Christopher, Alex Adorno, Ryan Minior, Matt Murray, Carl Cyr and Joe Mercer battled with (instead of against) the likes of Billerica's Adam DeSanctis and Justin Connors, Lowell's Paul Miller and Garrett Gillick and Andover's Dana McCann and Jason Dalton.

"It's a pleasure when you've got those kinds of athletes," Aylward was saying, even as those kinds of athletes, who came from all over the Merrimack Valley, came up to the coach from all over the field to thank him.. Everybody had a piece of the action," he continued. "Honestly, words would only diminish my feelings for these kids."

It was indeed that kind of a game, and one played for a great cause - the Carole Fund, an organization that helps young cancer patients temporarily put their treatments and doctor's visits behind them with a visit to a summer camp in New Hampshire. The fund was organized by Bill and Pat Egan in 1983, a year after their daughter Carole died of cancer at age 18.

In 1994, the Carole Classic was born, showcasing the best high school football players from the MVC and Middlesex Leagues, the latter winning the first two contests.

This year, under Aylward, the MVC stormed out to a 7-0 lead, with Torode quarterbacking a smooth 10-play, 81-yard drive capped by a neat 14-yard toss on a quick slant pattern to DeSanctis. Torode himself kept the drive alive on the third play, when, needing 16 yards for a first down and finding no one open, he tucked the ball and ran for 17. Torode finished the drive 3-4 passing with the TD.

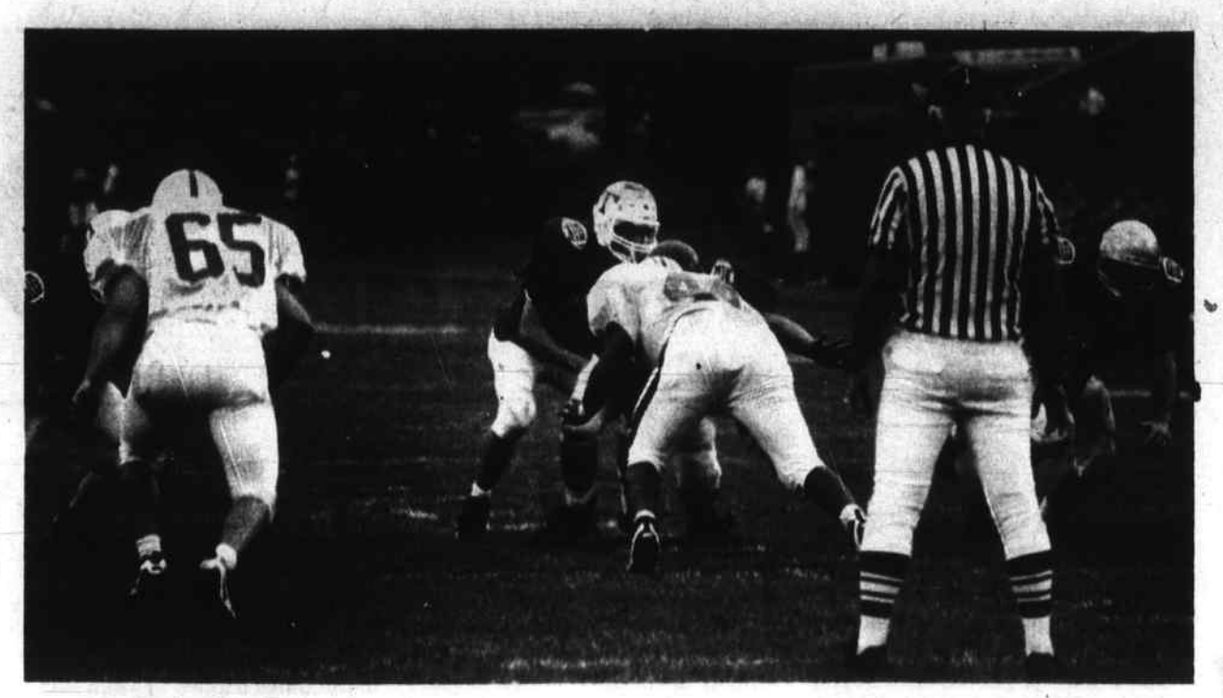

Adorno had a big hand in the ML's answering three-and-out, cutting in from his starting right cornerback position and helping stuff Stoneham's Eric Lockhart for a 1-yard loss on first down. And on third-and-six, Adorno tackled Reading's Le Eric Daye 2 yards shy of a first down after a completion.

But the MVC, using a watered down version of the Tewksbury offense, couldn't capitalize on its momentum and punted after three downs.

The ML answered with a 51-yard drive, 37 of which came on a pass from Reading QB Dave Pizzotti to Daye on Adorno's watch. The drive fizzled at the 7 after an illegal procedure penalty

Christopher jumps on it

by Jeff Nazzaro

Ben Christopher, as much as any one player can, had just won a football game.

With a game ball tucked under his left arm and a player of the game trophy clutched in his right hand, he patiently and humbly fielded questions from a series of radio broadcasters and sports scribes on the Cawley Stadium pitch. Everyone - reporters, family members, high school buddies, teammates - wanted a piece of Ben. Everyone, down to the smallest fan.

As Christopher obliged yet another reporter, a young boy was introduced. With bashful awe of the kind one might expect to see reserved for the likes of Drew Bledsoe or Ben Coates, the boy looked up at Christopher and said "You're the greatest," then a pause, and "you're the fastest."

Fastest, not quite. In fact, Christopher was edged (albeit by the narrowest of margins) in the pregame skills contest 40-yard dash by Watertown's Tom Dicker. But when the smoke cleared at Cawley and the third Carole Classic All-Star Football Game was over, it was clear and it was consensus: Ben Christopher was the best football player on that field.

Forget that Christopher hardly carried the football, didn't kick extra points, didn't return punts or kick-offs, all things he did extremely well last year for coach Bob Aylward's MVC Champion Tewksbury High football team. Ben played wide receiver. Played football. Pure and simple.

With an amazing fingertip grab for 33 yards to his credit but his MVC team now down seven points to the Middlesex League (which won the first two Classics) and facing 95 yards of turf with 5:25 left to get six of them back, Christopher lined up.

With Billerica's Justin Connors at quarterback, the MVC did drive those 95 yards, with Christopher catching three passes for 47 of them, including the final 15 into the end zone.

The first huge catch came on a third-and-six from the MVC 9-yard line. The 7 yards on the play were good enough to keep the game alive.

Number two came on a second-and-ten from the Middlesex 40. With a D-back so close you thought his name might be "Bike", Christopher turned and twisted and somehow hauled in a long high one on the right sideline, staying in bounds at the 15.

The third came on the next play, on the opposite side of the field, a low pass Christopher scooped up at the 1, leaning past two defenders for the touchdown.

"Coach Aylward said he was going to get me the ball," Christopher chuckled. "It took him awhile, but he got it to me."

But the snap for the kick that would have tied the game and sent it into overtime sailed high - time for Christopher's encore.

Now down one with 1:05 to go, it was on-side desperation time for the MVC. Desperation tempered by the presence of Ben Christopher on the line.

Football is the ultimate game of numbers. There's a statistic for everything, a long line beginning with the height, weight, time in the 40, vertical leap, body fat percentage, score on the logic section of the 4th grade Iowa achievement tests, you name it, of the players. Somewhere in there someone might gauge ability and desire to play the game of football.

Ben Christopher stands 5'9" and is listed at 175 pounds. His ability, heart, and hands that resemble something like Velcro on velvet were such that he used those numbers to be one of the best running backs and one of the best receivers in the state last year. In high school that can happen. As the level rises, it becomes more difficult, largely because college recruiters and scouts are looking so closely at those off-the-field numbers.

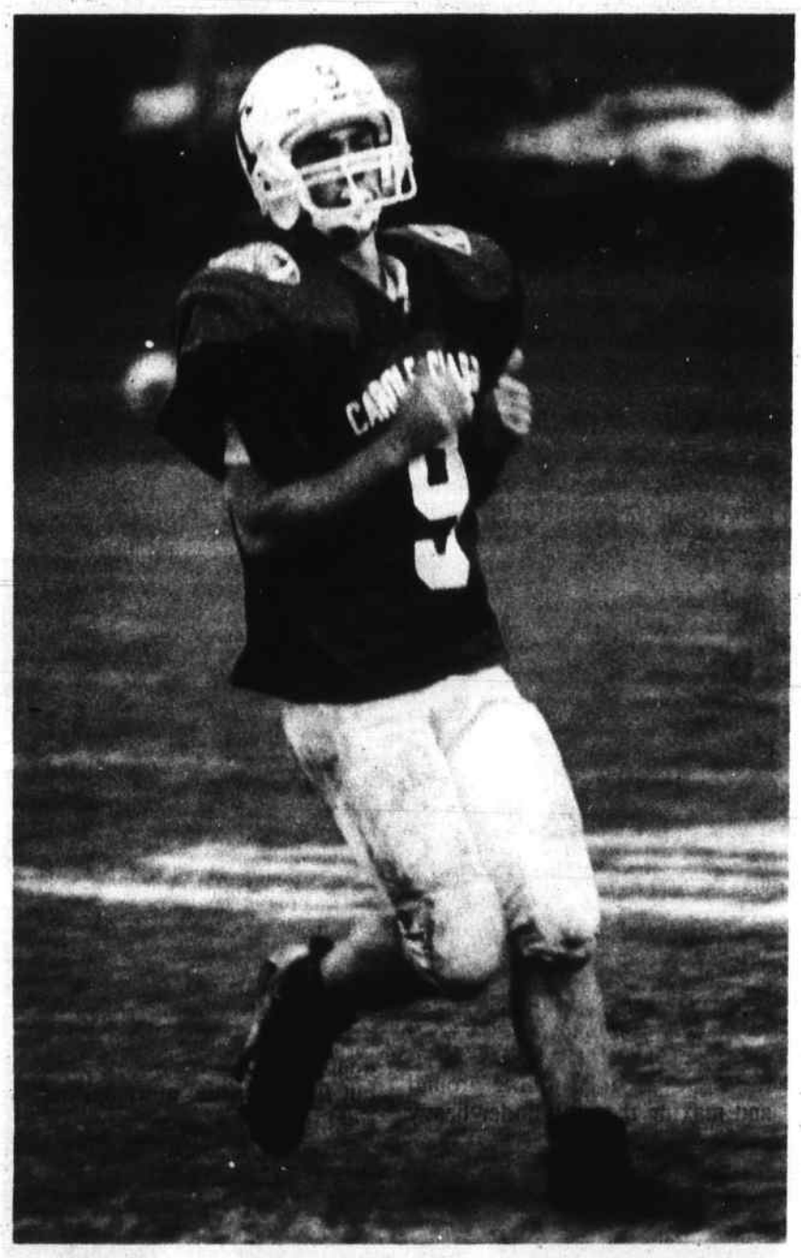

"I've battled my height my whole life," Christopher said. "I knew I was going to come up with the ball if it was there."

Of course by now you know he came up with the ball, a beautifully high on-side kick from Chelmsford's Pat Harrington that Christopher went up and stole from three players wearing opposing colors, three players who happened to stand taller than Ben Christopher in only one small regard.

Having turned down a last-minute full scholarship offer from the University of Maine, Christopher will head this fall to Worcester Academy, where he will play football, do a lot of work in the gym and attend to studies.

The year after, he hopes to be playing football in either the Yankee Conference or for a division 1A program. After the Carole Classic, Aylward said he hoped college recruiters had been at the game to see the kid Aylward referred to as "a big-time player" and "as good as I've had" take over and win the all-star game.

If not, they'll have a year at Worcester to do so, where, if they take a hard enough look, they'll see that the only numbers that count in football are the ones on the scoreboard and in the win column. And that Ben Christopher puts them there.

(one of seven penalties (78 yards) the ML was assessed on the day) and Jason Farrell of Wakefield nailed a 25-yard field goal to cut the MVC lead to 7-3.

But the MVC came right back with Connors at the helm this time, marching 72 yards before settling for a field goal of their own, this one off the foot of Chelmsford's Pat Harrington. Christopher reeled in his first completion of the evening on the first play of this drive, a 28-yard hook-up with Connors. It was not the last the ML would hear of from number 9.

With Connors and teammate DeSanctis connecting on a 22-yard touchdown strike with 2:19 left in the half, it appeared the MVC had things well in hand. But the ML torched the MVC D with a 66-yard pass from Pizzotti to Melrose's Jonathan Troy with :16 to go. A fake kick play that would have made the score 17-11 failed and the MVC went into the break up by eight.

That cushion lasted only 4:10 into the third quarter when a little trickery in the form of a double pass that went for 66 yards from Pizzotti to Melrose QB Dean DiGregorio (split wide to the right) to Melrose's Jonathan Troy down the right sideline and a conversion run from Lockhart knotted the game at 17.

The tying touchdown came on the ML's second possession of the half, after the two team's traded punts. On the ML's first possession, Minior forced the kick when he read a screen perfectly and buried Eric Wilson of Reading 6 yards behind the line of scrimmage.

The game remained tied halfway into the final quarter when Lockhart scored from 5 yards out to cap a 13-play 64-yard drive that with the kick made it 24-17. Then Christopher and Connors took over, starting at their 5-yard line with 5:25 to play.

On third-and-six from the 9, Connors hit Christopher for seven yards and a big first down. On second-and-ten from the Middlesex 40, Christopher hauled in a spectacular reception deep down the right sideline, turning around and making the grab under heavy guard at the 15. On the next play, Christopher curled left across the field, catching a low, perfectly placed Connors pass at the 1, and leaning in past two defenders for the score with 1:05 to go.

But Ben wasn't done yet.

With a potential overtime period agreed to by both coaches before the game, Aylward elected to kick to tie the game. The snap sailed over Harrington's head, however, and it quickly became on-sides kick time.

Harrington slammed the onsider, which took a high bounce. Christopher went up against three ML players and got it at the ML 45. From there, Connors hit Mercer over the middle for 14 big yards that set up a run by Methuen's Scott Bell to the 7. A facemask penalty brought the ball to the 4-yard line, from where Connors ran it in with no time showing on the clock.

"I wanted to end it somehow like this," Christopher said after. "We wanted to win for the first time in three years."

Another fun filled week has passed at the Wilmington Recreation Playground at Glen Road. Kicking off the week was arts and crafts where the children designed multicultural art along with an enormous game of kickball.

Tuesday brought a field trip to Funland and Dandi-Lyons. Then we had our own version of the Olympics and had mask making arts and crafts. Also last week we had a hot shot basketball contest for all ages. It was one of our biggest turnouts with everyone enjoying the day.

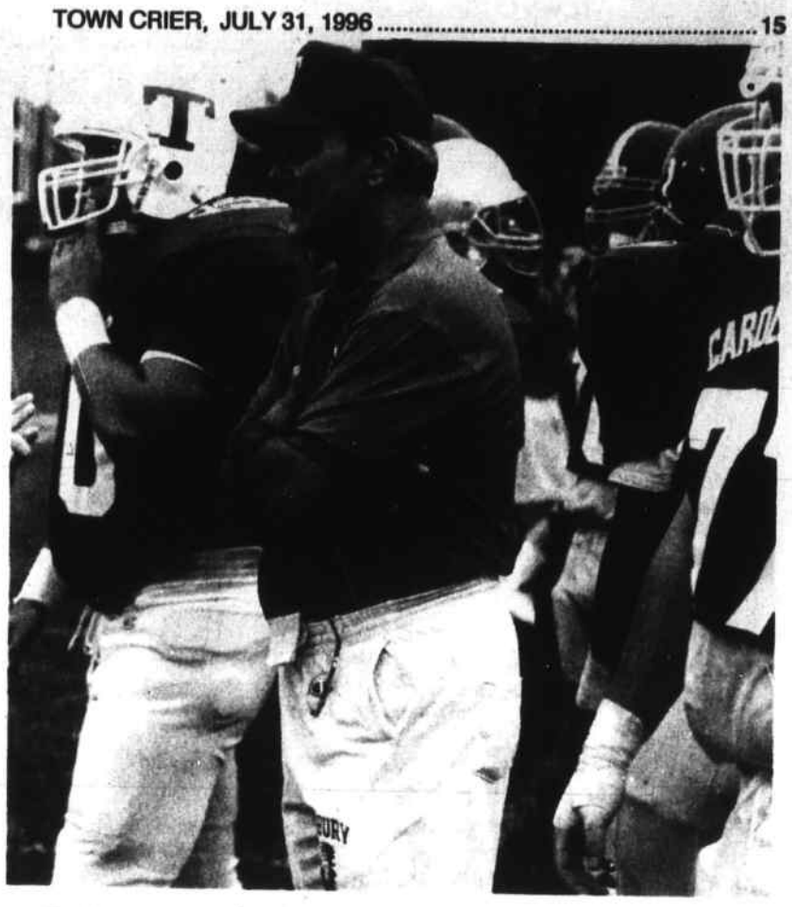

The winners: six and seven Kevin McDonough, coming in first with Ashley Bruno and Jesse Belding coming in second and third respectively. They it was time for the eight and nine year olds with a tie between Stephen Peterson and Meghan Godding. It was a great competition with Jack McDonough and Church Courtois coming in second and third respectively.

Next was a fierce competition between 10 and 11 year olds with Joey Luciano edging out Keith Frongillo and Derek Courtois for first, second and third respectively. Our last but not least, the 12 and up group took to the court with Lindsay Bruno coming in first followed by Jared Constantino and Chris Ramsdell.

Also we had our own exciting version of bingo, with winners being Jamie Riopelle, Danny DelRossi, Kevin Cole, Nathan Phillips, Melissa Paris, Katie Sullivan, Timmy Anderson, Brad McIsaac (winning twice), Corey Phillips, Kristina DaSilva, Jessica Lecesse, Joe Luciano and Charlie Lawrenson.

We would also like to thank DeMoulas Market Basket of Wilmington for their generosity in helping out our program with a very gracious donation.

Finally, the playground staff has chosen George Godding and Ashley Bruno as Playgrounders of the Week and Cheryl Lecesse and Chris Censullo as Volunteers of the Week.

Tewksbury under 14 softball

The Tewksbury Girls 14 and under softball team won four games and lost two to place fifth in the New England Regional Class B Tourney this past weekend. Good team play and super pitching by Amy VonKahle led the Redmen throughout the tournament.

Highlights

Tewksbury 11 Keene N.H. 2

VonKahle went right after Keene, whiffing 13 in a no-hitter. She also scored three runs on offense. Aimee Stronach had two hits. Corrie Stronach ended the game by gunning out a runner at the plate from left field on the fly.

Tewksbury 12
Naples, Maine 3

This time a two hitter for Von Kahle (12 k's). The Stronach girls were at it again as Aimee had two hits and Corrie scored three times. Also in on the offense were Lindsey Miller and Rachel Hummrich.

Twin Valley Cougars 10
Tewksbury 9

Tewksbury couldn't hold on to win this wild one that lasted 10 innings. Offense by Alyssa Bordonaro (two hits), Suzanne Scott, Molly Boyle and Lindsay Miller (two runs each) could not overcome some shoddy defense by the usually sure handed Redmen.

Tewksbury 2
Litchfield, N.H., 1

After the emotionally draining loss to Twin Valley the Redmen had barely enough gas left to edge the Raiders. Amy VonKahle's timely no-hitter (9 k's) held Tewksbury in there. Most of the offense was supplied by Corrie Stronach (3-for-3 with the game winning rbi and Lauren Bibo (homerun) Kelly Boyle contributed good defense at second base.

Tewksbury 10, Keene, N.H. 1

This rematch didn't prove anything different as Tewksbury was in control from start to finish. Shelly Bacigalupo and Rachel Hummrich led the hit parade with two each. Devin Walsh, Molly Boyle and Aimee Stronach also connected for hits but the big blow was a bases loaded triple by Laura Petros.

Swansea 3 Tewksbury 0

The Redmen were eliminated by Mass. champion Swansea but not without a fight. Infielders Lauren Bibo, Molly Boyle and Devin Walsh led a great team defensive effort but Swansea's pitcher dominated the Redmen as only Bibo, Aimee Stronach and Rachel Hummrich could connect for base hits.

Fishing in the morning ... ah, how great

by Bill Conlon

I'm a hoot owl by nature, able to watch midnight click past without so much as a yawn. Many is the time I've drifted off to sleep while the birds greet the eastern glow.

There are things that will get me out of bed early, however. Deer hunting and ice fishing top the list, but fishing in the morning mist is right up there.

On a recent vacation I caught the perfect dawn, on the pond. The sun lay on the horizon by the time I got the boat wet, but there was still time to enjoy the cool and the calm.

Dawn on the lake is a magic time. The warm water meets the cool air to produce a mist, which swirls and drifts but never quite conceals. Not a dense fog, but a thin, swirling vapor that hides details on shore, while leaving a clear sky above.

I found myself struggling to keep the silence intact as I unloaded the boat, watching out for falling oars and unnecessary thumps to the hull. The dawn demands quiet, and I try to comply. I'd rather stay quiet in the morning.

The treetops caught fire along the western shore as I drifted through the mist, heading for my favorite corner of the pond. The ducks and geese were scattering to the distant shores, leaving their sleeping spots in the center of the pond.

At night, a faint breeze blows in from every shoreline, and always toward the middle of the pond. The ducks gather in the calm center of the pond to sleep, safe from any predators and confident that the breeze will keep them in place. It's always odd to encounter a "raft" of ducks in the center of the pond at midnight, but that's where they'll be, sleeping with one eye open.

There were no dragonflies at first but then they began to appear, one by one, as the sun warmed up their hiding places. The insects cling to reeds and stalks as darkness falls, there to await the sun's return. As the dawn sun warms them again, they return to their aerial patrols.

But the best part of fishing in the morning is the fishing itself.

The mist hides the details, but the sound of splashes and plunks drifts through. Somewhere, over there, a fish is feeding on the surface. And another to the right, over there.

Surface lures are deadly at dawn. Perhaps the awakening insects are prone to drop into the water while testing out their sleepy wings, or are the fish simply confident that no airborne predators can locate them through the mist? In any case, bass will slam the daylights out of plugs in those hours before full daylight returns.

A Jitterbug tossed into a break in the lily pads draws a huge swirl as it passes. Something tried and missed, but perhaps it will try again. Lures that rarely draw a response during the day bring immediate results in the mist. And big bass are hitting the plugs, too, not just the yearlings that seem to best enjoy the topwater challenge.

Nothing lasts forever, and neither does the dawn. The cool air slowly warms, hinting at another hot day. A deep grumble from the far shore warns that somebody has fired up his power boat,though I'm at a loss to understand why. Minutes later the guy is flying by at full throttle, all by himself, crushing the silence as he makes big circles around the pond. Why?

It doesn't matter. The roar of his boat announces that dawn has ended and the day has begun. The pond now belongs to power boats hauling water skiiers, and mothers bringing their kids to the beach, and pontoon boats full of senior citizens. Hustle and bustle, roars and screams and a loud stereo blaring away. Soon the fish are headed for the safety of the deep, there to hide until the sun is again low on the horizon. One last cast with a rubber worm, to catch one deep perhaps, but why bother?

It's time for me to go. Dawn has ended, but I've had my fun in the mist.

Tomorrow, perhaps, the mist will return to the pond. And so will I.

If you go to buy a Mass. hunting or sporting license, save yourself a hassle and bring last year's license. It doesn't matter how old you. If you don't have an earlier years' hunting license, or a certificate of completion from a Hunter Safety Course, too bad. It's now the law.

If you want to take a deer out of Massachusetts, stay home! Eastern and Central Mass. have deer herds that are up to or exceeding goals set by the state, while Western Mass. is off a little. And I have it on the best (KR) authority that Tewksbury has several monster bucks lurking!

with no outs. Andy Berian the next batter would lift a high fly ball to center field, but the strong wind kept the ball in the park and playable for the center fielder. Kelley did tag up from third for Wilmington's fifth run of the game.

Kevin Pizzotti the next hitter walked, to again load the bases, Keith Travers then made a bid of his own for the fence in right field with a flyball only to be caught by the Cambridge right fielder, Ken Luongo tagged up from third with the sixth Wilmington run and Sinopoli went from second to third.

With runners now on first and third and two outs, Billy Nee stepped to the plate. On the first pitch a low and outside fast ball Pizzotti swiped second base to put the winning run in scoring position.

Then on a 1-0 fastball Nee smashed a slicing line drive down the third base line only to be robbed of the game winning base hit by the Cambridge third baseman for the final out of the game. Mike Kelley pitched a great game for Wilmington going the distance striking out eight and giving up only three hits, taking the hard luck loss.

In game number two of the second round, Wilmington traveled to Hovey Field in Dracut. Wilmington drew first blood in the top of the first. Peter Olivieri led off with a walk and Mike Kelley lifted a triple to right to score Olivieri.

In the bottom of the first with David Demango on the mound for Wilmington, three straight walks and a double gave Dracut a 3-1 lead after one. Dracut added another two in the bottom of the second before Wilmington would mount its comeback in the top of the third.

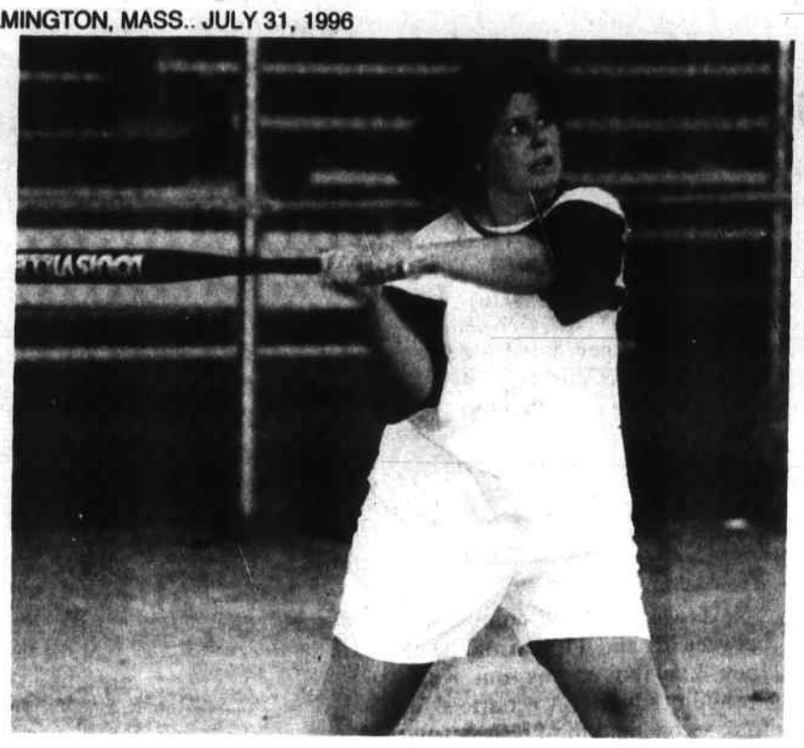

Joey Caira started the rally off with a leadoff walk. Following a Wilmington out, Dan Cwiekowski reached base after being hit by a pitch and John Cuoco walked to load them up. Mike Kelley produced a run scoring single to right and with the bases still loaded Kevin Pizzotti and Matt David drew walks to close the gap to 5-4 after three innings.

After settling down and pitching a scoreless inning, Demango gave way to Bob Sinopoli who set down Dracut in the fourth. In the top of the fifth Mike Kelley led off and Sinopoli would also walk to put runners at first and second. With two out Demango walked to load the bases. Keith Travers up at the plate, the Dracut pitcher delivered a wild pitch scoring Kelley with the tying run. On the very next pitch the pitcher again unleashed a wild pitch, however an alert play by the catcher cut down Sinopoli at the plate with what would have been the go ahead run.

The game remained tied into the bottom of the sixth. Dracut would get the first two men on, Keith Travers then came up with a big play cutting down the runner at third base on an attempted sacrifice bunt as Pizzotti covered the base for the force out.

With one out and a 1-2 count to the next Dracut hitter a very controversial called ball brought the count even at 2-2. The next pitch from Sinopoli as the ball lofted down the left field line for game winning hit and the second heartbreaking loss in a row for the Wilmington "C" Team. Matt Brander and Peter Olivieri made great plays in the field for Wilmington keeping the game close to the very end.

Wilmington's remaining Bay State Tournament games include home games at the North against Dracut on the 31st and at Rotary Park against Warrendale on the seventh of August. The away games include games at Stoneham vs Central Cambridge on August 3 and at Warrendale on August 5.

Wilmington Finishes 2nd in Division at 13-4-1

Reading Astros 8 - Wilmington 2

Wilmington's nine game winning streak came to an end at the hands of the Reading Astros (first in their division).

The Wildcats scored 1 in the first inning, but Reading tied the game in the third then added 2 in the fourth, 1 in the fifth and 4 in the sixth. A second Wilmington run in the fourth was all the offense they could mount.

Starter Dan Sweet (3-1) went 5-plus innings, allowing 7 runs on four hits. Sweet struck out 5, but 10 walks came back to haunt him.

Reading's pitchers held Wilmington to just 5 hits – singles by Ralph Sirignano (2), Mike Heffernan, Justin Vallas, and Mike Willcox.

Wilmington 18 - Methuen 0

What a difference a day makes! Brian Binkoski (4-0) pitched 5 innings of no-hit ball before Methuen made it a one-hitter with a single in the sixth. But that would be all they'd get as Binkoski struck out 10 and walked 5 on the way to his first shut-out of the season.

Meanwhile, his teammates were taking batting practice off Methuen's pitchers.

Wilmington scored in every inning as Dan Sweet led the attack with a 2-run homerun and an RBI single, Dave DeAmato (RBI double, single), Brian Binkoski (2 singles, 3 RBI), Jim O'Donnell (2 singles), Ralph Sirignano and Rob Perkins each with a double, and Sean Quigley and Tom Southmayd added singles.

Andover 4 - Wilmington 3

Andover scored 2 unearned runs in the third to break a 1-1 tie and that's the way it stayed – until the seventh. With two out and the bases loaded, Jim O'Donnell singled to bring in two runs and tie the game. But division-leading Andover came back and scored in the bottom of the inning to notch the victory.

Matt Coyne (1-1) went the distance, giving up 4 runs on 6 hits, striking out 6 and walking 7.

Dave DeAmato had the Wildcat's only other hit, an RBI single in the first inning.

Wilmington 9 - Reading Rockets 9

This game had already been postponed twice because of rain, and both teams were more than ready to play. Add some tough calls, a few rowdy fans, and an even rowdier Reading bench – and it was quite a game!

Wilmington scored in the second when Mike Willcox doubled and scored on a Dave DeAmato single. Reading came back with 2 runs in their half of the inning and added another run in the third.

Starter Pat Heffernan (2-1) held the Rockets through the fourth, and in the fifth his teammates gave him a comfortable lead as they exploded for 6 runs. Mike Heffernan came on in relief and allowed 1 run in the sixth. But Wilmington had added 2 more runs and led comfortably 9-4. Or so it seemed.

In the seventh inning the first two batters walked, Reading's pitcher came to bat and was hit by a pitch (for the second time in the game). The next batter grounded out and one run scored. Three RBI singles followed and Wilmington's lead was cut to 9-8.

Dan Sweet took the mound, with runners on second and third and one out, and hit the first batter he faced. The next batter walked and drove in the tying run. Sweet struck out the next two batters and the game went to extra innings.

Wilmington failed to score in the eighth and Sweet took the mound, striking out the first batter. The Reading pitcher was up next and, with the count 0-2, he was hit by a pitch! The next batter lined to second baseman Mike Heffernan who threw to first for the double play.

The umpires called the game after the eighth inning and beat a hasty retreat across the field.

Look for an exciting rematch as Wilmington faces the Reading Rockets in the first game of the playoffs – Thursday, August 1 at 5:30 p.m., at WHS.

Wilmington 5 - Lowell 3

It was fitting that the last game of the regular season would decide who would finish 2nd in the division.

Lowell (12-5) had beaten Wilmington (12-4-1) in extra innings in their first encounter, and Wilmington wanted to even the score.

Brian Binkoski (5-0) took the mound for Wilmington and, after four innings, Lowell led 3-0. But once more Wilmington mounted a comeback, scoring 4 in the fourth and adding 1 in the fifth. Binkoski helped his cause by leading Wilmington's offense with 2 singles and 2 RBI.

Ralph Sirignano came on in relief and shut Lowell down over the last three innings.

The road to victory

Superstitions carry Jr. team

by Jamie Pote

Whether it was the number 27, a pin, a quarter in the same pocket, a dwarf, or any other superstitions, the Tewksbury Junior 13 Nationals All-Star Baseball team proved that luck can carry a team so far - another word called talent then takes over.

On a gorgeous Saturday afternoon in East Hampton MA., on a beautiful ball field, the 13-year old team showed off its talents by whalloping Webster 16-1 to notch the first of two Little League State Championships ever in Tewksbury. The 14-15 year old team followed with a 9-3 schellacking over Auburn.

Scott Favreau, as usual, was in command and overpowering. He said he was very nervous in the first including which included stomach cramps and he gave up his only run in that first inning. From that point on he was dominating as Webster didn't get another hit until the sixth inning. Favreau went the distance giving up one run on two hits, while walking three and striking out 13 batters. Only one ball was hit to the outfield by Auburn - a slow grounder inbetween first and second base.

"I have pitched this good before, but none of [the wins] have meant as much as this one," Favreau said answering if this was his best game on the mound. "This is the best feeling - we have the first ever state championship in Tewksbury and there is going to be another one in the next game," Favreau said as his older brother Derek and company did do just that.

Favreau was also a force at the plate as he went 4-for-5 including two doubles, two stolen bases, two runs scored, while driving in four teammates.

"All we kept hearing about is how great their pitcher was and how he averaged 15 strikeouts per game. After the first inning we knew we could hit him and we did," Favreau said.

After Favreau struck out the last two batters to end the game in the seventh inning, he tossed his glove straight up in the air, a la Fernando Valenzuela, and his teammates and coaches immediately surrounded him and tackling him at the mound.

"The kids deserve everything," said head coach Tony Ganchi. "They are the ones who worked so hard. I'm so proud of each and every one of them - I just can't describe the feeling. This is great. It doesn't get any better than this."

Assistant coach Derek Anderson said the team hit the way they are capable of.

"Our lineup is stacked from one through nine. Our number nine hitter could be our number four hitter. The guys who didn't start could be number four hitters too. This is the way they are capable of hitting - it was just a matter of time."

Several players on the team including catcher T.J. Forsythe, second baseman Ryan Carlson and third baseman Ryan Carrigan all said they give credit for the 12-hit bashing to Anderson for always being there.

"We owe it all to D-Train," the trio said. "He pysched us up throughout the whole game, making sure we didn't lose our focus. He has been here for us all year."

Forsythe said he has never seen Favreau move the ball around as much in the game as he has before.

"He was overpowering. He didn't throw his curve ball as much but he hit the corners with his fastball and he changed is speeds a lot. I have never seen him this good," Forsythe said.

After Webster took a 1-0 lead in the bottom of the first, Tewksbury got the nerves out of them with a seven run top of the second inning.

Carlson was the first of eleven batters to get up in the inning and he got hit by the pitch to start the rally. Carrigan walked and Danny Elliman singled to load the bases. Forsythe followed and he forced Carrigan at third to tie the game at one. Brian O'Hara followed with a single to right to load the bases once again. The top of the order followed and Mark "Bo" Boudreau and Favreau hit back-to-back singles to drive in a run each to make it 4-1 in favor of Tewksbury. Ganchi continued his aggressive base running tactics sending Boudreau and Favreau on a double steal call before Jason Viega walked to load the bases for the third time in the inning. After Jimmy Reinold struck out, Carlson walked in a run and Carrigan doubled to the left center gap making it 7-1.

Favreau and Viega each had RBI doubles in the third inning to make it a 9-1 ball game. Tewksbury added a single run in the fifth and six more in the seventh to close it out. Rich Chartienitz, Favreau and Carlson had the hits in the inning, single, double and triple, respectively.

To get to the state championship game, Tewksbury had a tough task when they were matched up against Swampscott, last Wednesday night at Volunteer Field in Chelmsford, the same team who knocked them out of contention last year with a 5-1 victory.

Tewksbury scored six runs in the top of the first inning highlighted by RBI hits by Viega, Reinold, Forsythe and Boudreau.

Swampscott scored single runs in the first and second innings off Boudreau, who went the distance getting the win in the 8-6 finale.

With the score 6-2 after three, Tewksbury added two huge runs in the top of the fourth on a Swampscott error making it 8-2. Swampscott got one back in the bottom of the third.

Tewksbury needed just three more outs in a game that lasted about two-and-a-half hours in the bottom of the seventh which included the Swampscott coach being tossed for arguing a play at the plate.

Anyway with three outs needed, Boudreau struck out the first batter in the seventh inning to step an inch closer. The next batter doubled and the following batter flied to left for the second out. The next two batters walked to load the bases and Boudreau hit the next batter to force in a run, making it 8-4. The ninth batter in the order singled down the third base line to drive in two teammates to force Ganchi to pull Boudreau in favor of Carlson. Carlson ended the dramatics with a perfect pitch down the pipe on a 3-and-2 count which froze the Swampscott batter for the third strike and third out and the victory for Tewksbury.

"This was our state championship right here. We wanted to beat Swampscott after they beat us last year. This has been eating at me for a year now - this was my states," said Ganchi.

Boudreau said after there were two outs, he just couldn't settle down.

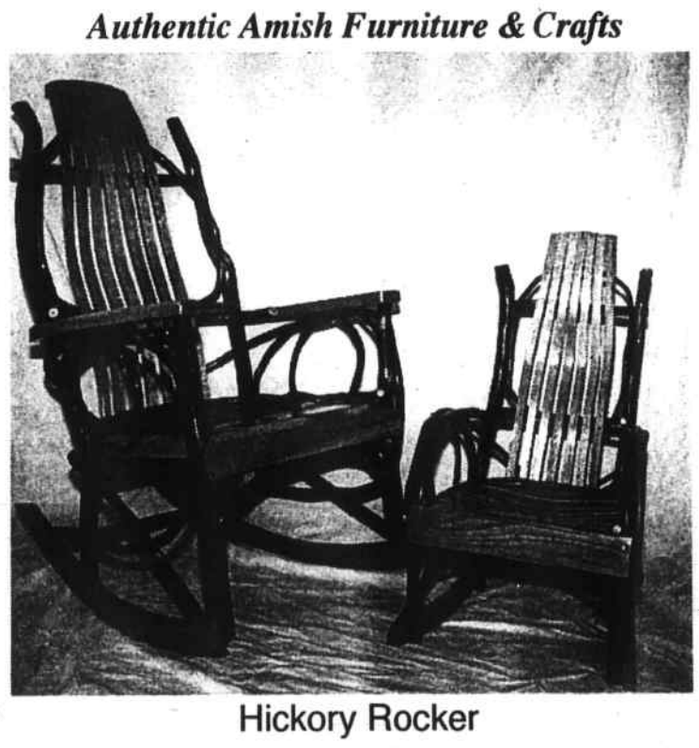

"I was just trying to throw strikes, but I got too nervous. It feels really good right now," Boudreau said who chose to stay and play for the town team rather than go to Oklahoma for the AAU Championships starting on Thursday.

With what ended up to be a very controversial play which included the Swampscott coach being thrown out of the game on this play, Ryan Carlson avoids a tag at home plate as he scores one of the runs in Tewksbury's victory over Swampscott from last Thursday at Volunteer Field in Cheolmsford. THE ELEMENTS OF LOCATION

How should you evaluate the properties that appeal to you when you are in the market for a home? There is an old cliché about the three most important factors of a piece of property: location, location and location.

Some neighborhoods have a certain distinction that attracts buyers, but there are other factors to take into account. A house in the best part of town may have a few points subtracted if it is located on a busy street. There are buyers who would like to be close to schools, shipping, and churches, but don't want to live across the street from these facilities. You may want an easy commute to your job, but would not consider a location close to the "on" ramp for the major route into town. Being located close to an airport could be convenient if you are a commercial pilot, but could make it difficult to sell even the most wonderful house.

As you balance all of the factors, remember that a location liability which gets you a great house at a reasonable price, will probably require you to pass a similar savings on to future buyers.

The road to victory

Senior squad said the younger guys would not be the only winners

by Jamie Pote

After sitting, watching and cheering on the 13-year old squad as they tackled each other in glory after winning the first Little League State Championship ever in Tewksbury, the 14-15 year-old squad knew the younger guys wanted company to help soak in the success.

Whether it was a coincidence, luck or fate, the Senior League team continued the perfect day for Tewksbury with a 9-3 win over Auburn. Both teams enjoyed the two-hour bus ride home celebrating the wins which included a police escort down Route 38 (I think not only did Tewksbury, but many other surrounding towns including Auburn and Webster heard the cheers of the deserving teams).

Centerfielder John Nickerson who smacked his fifth home run in eight tournament games on perhaps a 400 foot blast into the trees past right field, said it really helped the team get up for the game after the 13's won it earlier.

"We were not going back on that bus with them being the only winner," Nickerson said, who licks his bat before every at-bat. "That got us more pumped up - we knew then that we had to get our job done."

Pitcher Matt Elliott who was nothing short of superb said after Tewksbury went up 5-2, he knew he was in control and that Tewksbury had the game.

"I knew if I let them hit it, that we had the defense to hold them," Elliott said. "I was just trying to keep them off balance [by constantly changing speeds and locations with off-speed pitches]. It seemed to work so I kept pitching that way."

Does a 400 foot home run by Nickerson help as a confidence builder?

"Yes. We are used to him hitting a home run a game. We kind of expect it," Elliott said.

Head coach Tom Sullivan said after the game, that his team just goes out and does the job they are suppose to.

"These guys are so focused that it seems after a big homerun, they get fired up for a short time and then they go right back concentrating and getting focused for what they have to do. If they make mistakes, they don't let it bother them - they just focus on what is ahead of them."

Tewksbury jumped ut to a 2-0 lead in the top of the first. After an out, Nickerson doubled and Morris followed with a base hit sending Nickerson to third. Morris swiped second and Daley singled in Nickerson, sending Morris to third. Daley was out trying to stealing second on a very aggressive style in the first inning. Davoren followed with an RBI single driving in Morris, making it 2-0.

Auburn scored single runs in the first and second innings to tie it up at two. But in the third inning, Nickerson led off the inning with a bomb into the trees over the right field fence for a solo-homerun. Perhaps licking his bat before he bats allows him to stand and watch his homer.

"I like to watch all of my hits," smiled Nickerson. Was this the longest home run he has ever hit? "No."

Tewksbury added two more runs in that same third inning when Morris and Daley combined on a double steal and Doherty singled in Daley. An error, an RBI double by Nickerson and another RBI single by Doherty open the flood gates as Tewksbury scored three more runs in the top of the fourth making it 8-2. Both teams added single runs as they game ended with a 9-3 victory.

The 2-3-4 batters for Tewksbury, Nickerson, Morris and Daley, respectively, were a combined 8-12 in the game which included scoring seven of the nine runs.

Playground update

Week four was another exciting week at the Wilmington Summer Camp at Woburn St. A trip to the Children's Museum highlighted Monday. On Tuesday, Rainbow Rooms were created in arts and crafts.

Mike Ellsworth continues to dominate in Stratego. Joe Marsoobian, Doug Clifford and to everyone's surprise, light hitting staff member Julie Robinson, all went "yard" in the daily whiffle ball game.

The roar you heard on Wednesday was nto from a performance of the Blue Angels. Neon propeller planes were created in arts and crafts and the squadron filled the skies over the Woburn Street School.

On Friday the camp trekked to Wyman's Beach to cap off a super week.

Soccer shoot-out

If you can kick, you can get your kicks (along with refreshments and maybe even a trophy) at the first Tewksbury-Wilmington Elks Soccer Shoot-Out Sept. 14.

"If they know how to kick they can do it," organizers are promising of this fun-emphasized event.

The shoot-out will feature boys and girls divisions in four age groups: 6 and under, 7-8, 9-10, and 11-12 year olds. Winners can advance to district and then state competitions, all sponsored by the Elks.

There is no fee to participate and sign-ups will be on the day of the event, which is scheduled to begin at 10:00 a.m. A rain date is slated for Sunday, Sept. 15.

All are welcome.

Cigars

They're making a big comeback locally

By DOUG WOOD-BOYLE

Cigars, despite the anti-smoking campaigns, are increasing in popularity.

The renewed popularity, according to some, is in despite of the odor. According to afficionados, the aroma is a part of the draw of cigars.

Cigar distributor Mark Sacks of Hav-A-Tam-pa/Phillies said, "They are making a big comeback."

Referring to the growing number of no smoking regulations Sacks said, "I don't know where people are smoking the product but they are smoking."

His figures say that domestic cigars account for 70 percent of the new sales and the premium high grade brands are accounting for the other 30 percent.

No matter what the reason, the signs are showing that the cigar is making the comeback to its former status as a sign of wealth or stature. They are found in the neighborhood shops, such as Woburn's The Smoke Shop (formerly Gene's Smoke Shop) as well in toney new shops such as the Cigar Emporium, a part of Busa Liquors Burlington store.

Boston area restaurants have cigar smoking events that match the meal course to a certain type of cigar. At Busa's a private smoking room has been provided and advice on matching the right cigar to the right glass of wine, port or sherry can be readily found.

Dan Busa owner of the liquor and cigar stores claims that the revival of the cigar is mainly due to one person, Marvin R. Shanken, editor and publisher of Cigar Aficionado magazine. The publication first came on line in September, 1992.

Peter doCouto, manager of Busa's and the Cigar Emporium, said, "We are not supposed to be smoking.

"We are not supposed to be smoking cigars, that adds to the flavor of it."

"We are not supposed to be smoking. We are not supposed to be smoking cigars, that adds to the flavor of it."

Peter doCouto, manager of Busa's Liquors and the Cigar Emporium in Burlington

Busa explained that his partners in the cigar store venture, Joseph Pasquale and David Sweetzer have done demographic studies of the new cigar smoker. Those studies show that the cigar smoker is:

-25 to 45 year-old;
-well educated;
-has a fairly good income; and
-is health conscious.

"In other words," Busa said "It is everyone that should know better."

Sacks adds, "A growing number of women are smoking cigars."

Busa heard about Pasquale and Sweetzer from a friend who owns a Newton liquor store. The pair had started the concept of walk-in humidors as a hobby. That hobby has now grown to include several stores such as Busa's. The liquor store chain has three of the Emporiums. The West Lexington store is the second and the third is in Rhode Island.

Both the Burlington store and Lexington store are billed as "the largest walk-in humidors in New England.

According to Busa, the humidors are 100 square feet of space lined in non-aromatic Honduran Cedar, "...which is very difficult to get."

He estimates the cost of building the room is about

SHARING A GOOD CIGAR WITH A FRIEND is the newest fad at Busa Liquor's in Burlington. Dan Busa (shown above) has recently added The Cigar Emporium to the liquor store so people can come in to relax leaving the outside world for awhile.

Austin students year end project goes very well

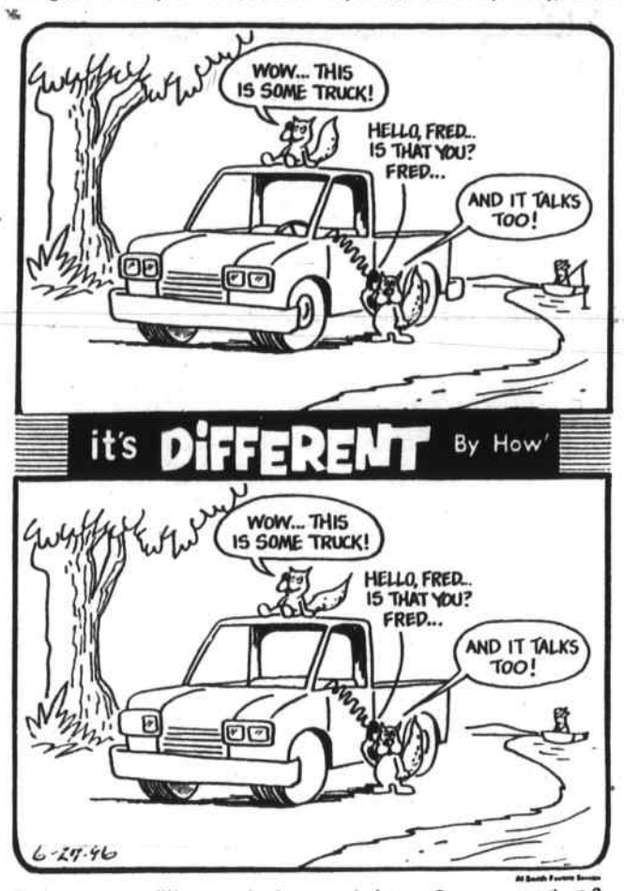

Seventh grade Latin students in the Junior School division of Austin Preparatory School in Reading were recently honored for their successful completion of year end projects in classical Roman culture.

Area residents in this select group of young scholars include Maureen Bell of Wilmington; Brandie Clarke of Lawrence; Christopher Cornetta of Saugus; Brendan Griffin of Andover; Rachel Hartman of Andover; Alison Mahoney of Stoneham; Andrew Mallon of Medford; Julie Norman of Tewksbury; Michael Semenza of Stoneham; and Lindsay Weatherbee of Wakefield.

Austin Preparatory School mandates a two year study of Latin in Grades 7 and 8 of its Junior School, a current trend among the nation's leading private schools. The study of Latin at the middle school and even the elementary school level is considered a basic tool fundamental to the learning of a foreign language.

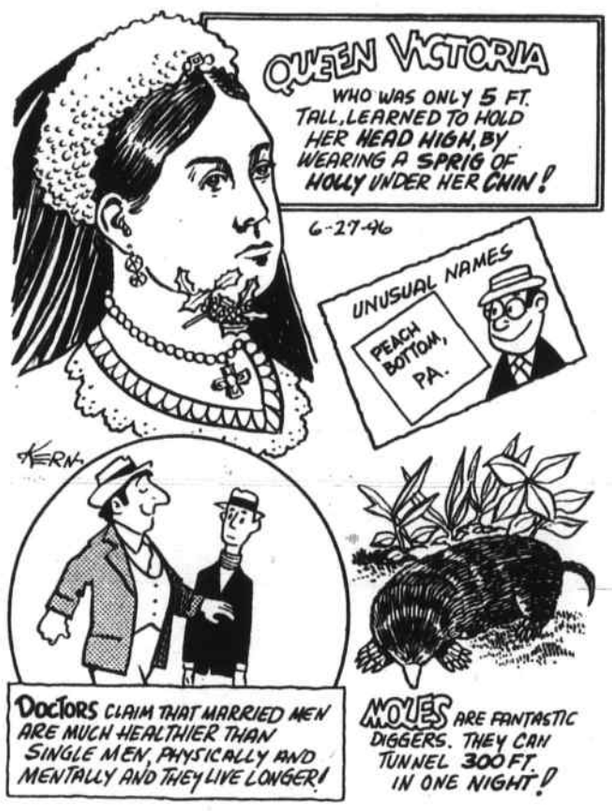

When Austin Prep students enter the high school division in Grade 9, they may elect to continue with the study of Latin, or may choose to begin learning a modern foreign language by studying French, Russian or Spanish. The school requires successful completion of three years of foreign language on the high school level for graduation.

The Latin faculty at Austin Prep includes Roger F. Stone, Chair of the Foreign Language Department, Elizabeth Lupi and Nicholas Naso.

New England Capital Funding opens office in Woburn

New England Capital Funding, a mortgage services company, recently opened an office in Woburn. Located at 52B Nashua Street, the firm is owned and operated by Jack Cagnina of Reading.

The company serves two distinct mortgage markets. First, in the conventional mortgage market, New England Capital Funding offers mortgage reduction and mortgage auditing programs.

Real Estate owners paying down a mortgage on residential or commercial property can substantially increase the amount of equity in the property through the reduction programs offered by NECF. In most instances, the basic mortgage reduction program can reduce the time to pay off a conventional mortgage by one third while saving tens of thousands of dollars in interest costs.

Mortgage auditing programs, monitoring all payments made, assure proper crediting of all principal and interest amounts. Recent government figures for the banking industry estimate that some $14 billion in payment errors are made each year.

Given the cost of mortgage payments combined with the huge amounts of interest expense, property owners may benefit greatly when utilizing the mortgage reduction and auditing programs.

In the second market, the private mortgage market, New England Capital Funding assists in structuring seller financing and provides liquidity for seller financed (hence, privately held) mortgages.

More specifically, when the seller of real estate is offering full or partial financing to complete the sale of property (known as 'taking back paper"), NECF assists the property owner with all aspects of structuring the financing. Once the

About The Towns

by Phyllis Nissen

'Lights out' in Lynnfield

The Selectmen speak

"The Selectmen have turned out the lights on the plan to illuminate the Middle School football field," notes the "Lynnfield Villager."

"A group of Perry Ave. area residents were successful in convincing the Selectmen existing problems in the neighborhood would be exacerbated by events played at night. The Selectmen felt lights were not a necessity for a town such as Lynnfield which hosts four or five home football games a year. 'To hold other sports events at night to justify their existence is like buying two ambulances and telling people to get sick to use them,' Selectman David Drislane commented.

"The Recreation Commission told the neighbors at a public hearing last month the lighting plan would proceed and the town solicited bids for the lighting.

"The residents' complaints included parking and traffic problems, youths trespassing through their properties and jumping the fence to the school, vandalism, litter, and public urination. The residents also are concerned with excessive noise from the existing public address system which 'vibrates through the neighborhood' during the day games and light pollution from the lights which would be erected on 70 foot high poles...."

It's unanimous

"It was an offer Town Meeting could not refuse," notes the Winchester edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"By unanimous vote ... Town Meeting decided to purchase some 45 acres of undeveloped land in Winchester known as Winning Farm for $1.2 million.

"According to one member of the Finance Committee, the price equals about $27,000 per acre, 'a bargain any way you look at it.'

"Controlled by the trustees of Winning Home Inc., Winning Farm consists of about 110 acres straddling Winchester, Woburn and Lexington.

"The key to the decision was the financing plan which uses available funds and anticipates revenue from development to be equal to or greater than the purchase price.

"Proponents of the purchase said the town expects to develop about 12.5 acres of the parcel, looking closely at senior assisted living as a priority, and dedicating the balance to open space and conservation...."

Town rejects golf course

"After approximately two hours of discussion, Town Meeting ... rejected a change in the reasons for the town's eminent domain taking of the landlocked parcel," notes the Burlington edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"The action brings an abrupt halt to a proposal to locate an 18-hole golf course on the 270-acre site which is located at the intersection of routes 3 and 128.

"The vote on the article was 45-45, far short of the two-thirds margin needed for approval.

"The town has owned the property, which abuts Lexington and Bedford, since an eminent domain taking was executed in July 1986.

"The golf course proposal emanated from the Landlocked Parcel Access and Use Study Committee. The seven-member panel, formed by the Board of Selectmen, began its work in August 1994...."

Local poet published

"Donald E. Pearce of 5 Tower Hill Road, has just had original poetry published in 'A Muse To Follow,' a treasury of today's poetry compiled by the National Library of Poetry," notes the "North Reading Transcript." "The poem is entitled 'Goodnight,' and the main subject is saying goodnight to his sweetheart across the miles.

"This is Pearce's second poem accepted by the National Library of Poetry. The first published, entitled 'Witch Woman,' appeared in 'A Walk Through Paradise,' and is also a romantic poem of being under a sweetheart's spell. Pearce was asked by the National Library of Poetry to submit another poem, to be published in the fall. His unique style and versatility allow him to write on many different subjects. The latest poem is about one of God's special works, trees. These publications will become national reference books for all schools and libraries.

"Pearce was also selected to receive the Editor's Choice award, given to just three percent of the authors accepted.

"Poets interested in publication may send one original poem, any subject or style, 20 lines or less to the National Library of Poetry, 11419-10 Cronridge Drive, P.O. Box 704-1379, Owings Mills, Maryland 21117."

Cigars

From S-1

$26,000 with another $10,000 invested in the inventory of over 50 brands and 450 plus selections of premium hand rolled cigars. Such names as Ashton, Canaria D'oro LaGloria CubanaV. Centennial Royal Jamaican and Nat Sherman are represented on the list.

The most recent addition is the Busa, a custom labeled hand-rolled Corona style. This type of cigar goes nicely with a Late Barrel Vintage style of Port.

If your having a glass of full-bodied Zinfandel perhaps you would like to try what doCouto describes as a big, peppery Te-Amo, a Mexican cigar.

All of these can be tried in Busa's cigar smoking lounge, a tastefully decorated room with leather sofa, and two straight back chairs. The room is just off the humidor.

Busa said that part of the draw of the Cigar Emporium was to change the image of the liquor store, and make it something a little bit different.

doCouto explained that the two are a natural match. The store has been building up its wine and single malt scotch selection.

"People who like full flavors and fine wines enjoy the flavors of the cigar," doCouto said.

doCouto and Fred Coscia are perfect examples of how to become an expert on cigars in a short period of time.

Coscia, the owner of The Smoke Shop on Main Street in Woburn said, "You don't have to smoke them to sell them."

Coscia is a non-smoker and has only owned his store for two months. However, it only takes a short conversation with him to know that Coscia knows his product.

doCouto has been managing the Burlington store for two years. The plans for the Emporium were drawn up in October and it was on-line in November. Along with some help from Sweetzer and Pasquale he has trained himself by smoking different types, attending smokers and interacting with other afficionados.

He also notes that having a room to smoke in helps a great deal.

Both Busa and doCouto have nothing but nice things to say about the small smoking room. One of the compliments is about the restfulness of the atmosphere.

"The neat thing about this room is that it forces you to take 45 minutes to relax," doCouto said.

The room has become so popular that some people have even started to reserve it for informal smoking sessions with friends.

Whether it is a fancy humidor like Busa's or the old style smoke shop like Coscia's, the important thing is to keep the cigars stored at the proper temperature and humidity. Both places stay within the recommended range of 68 to 70 degrees and about 70 percent humidity.

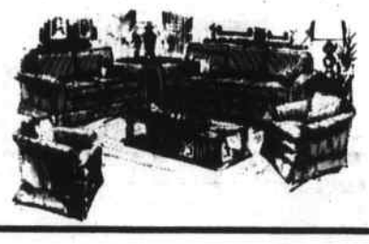

At Coscia's this is accomplished by keeping his individual cases controlled for humidity. He is in the process of building a large case so that all of his selection, 20 different brands (ranging from Parodi's on up) and the various selections that go with them, can be on display in one place.

Busa commented on the importance of his controlled atmosphere which he claims will keep a cigar fresh for at least 100 years. He said that he has built in boxes that customers can rent for $10-per-month to store their more expensive purchases.

The smoking room and the boxes were ideas that Busa got from other places. Many of the Boston restaurants that promote Smoking Dinners provide the boxes for their regular customers. The room itself was an idea taken from famed Boston tobacconist Ehrlich's store which has had one for many years.

In the Cigar Aficionado's Pocket Guide Shanken writes, "Smoking a cigar is about relaxation. It's about finding the time to leave behind the modern world's hectic pace. It's about turning inward for a reflective pause. It's about stepping back from the worries of the day in quiet contemplation. It's about enjoying one of life's truly great pleasures. Sharing a cigar with a friend becomes a stimulus for civilized conversation, a common ground where shared experience builds a bond."

WBZ Radio talk show host David Brudnoy has claimed that smokers will be the newest class of criminals and that smoking rooms will be the speakeasies of the future.

Folks there is no one with more endurance than the men and women who sell insurance. A stock broker comes a close second. Every day for a week he tried to sell my Aunt Nora stock saying it would double in value in ten years. "Look here Sonny," Aunt Nora told him, "I don't even buy Green Bananas!"

Middlesex East Sports Athletes & Activities

BY PAUL FEELY

Most six-year-old athletes are still learning the basic rules of life, never mind the rules of a sport. But one six-year-old from Stoneham has already received a national award, and it's highly unlikely that's the only recognition he'll receive in his career.

Stoneham's EDWARD J. SMITH (known to his friends and family as E.J.), 6, was awarded the bronze medal at the United States Judo Association's Junior Nationals, which was held in Warwick, Rhode Island, back on July 5.

Aside from his age, what makes the accomplishment even more amazing is that he took the medal after just eight months of lessons. His teachers say that he is one of the quickest studies they have ever had walk through their doors.

E.J. is the son of Patrick and Christine Smith of Curve Road in Stoneham, and has been training in the martial arts since the age of three. He only recently took up the sport of judo. Both his parents, family members, and coaches were surprised when he took three matches in the exhausting day-long competition.

During the afternoon, E.J. beat one silver medalist the first time he faced him, but met up with the same opponent in the loser's bracket later in the competition. He lost by just one half point in the semifinal, and was unable to defeat the eventual gold medal winner.

E.J. (who will enter the second grade at the Robin Hood School this fall) competed in the six-year-old, 51 lbs-and-under category in the competition, against 12 foes from across the country and Canada. After just eight months of training at the Tohoku Club in Somerville, E.J. performed very well against opponents who had averaged two years of training.

SPORTS SHORTS

•MIDDLESEX EAST SPORTS WEEKLY TRIVIA QUESTION: Who are the only three professional baseball players in history to win the Most Valuable Player award at two different positions? Answer appears elsewhere in this column.

•The STONEHAM 15-YEAR-OLD SENIOR LEAGUE ALL-STARS recently captured the District 13 championship, after posting back-to-back wins in the tournament.

Stoneham took the two wins in a best of three series against Wilmington, after a team from Assabet Valley pulled out of the tournament. Stoneham lost the opener, but with their backs against the wall the players pulled off wins behind the arm of 15-year-old pitcher JASON LITTLE.

•The WILMINGTON LITTLE LEAGUE SENIOR SOFTBALL TEAM took the District 13 championship recently with a 13-8 win over the WOBURN NATIONAL TEAM.

Wilmington was led by KRISTIN THOMAS, who went three for three with two doubles and recorded five RBIs.

•Need some clues to help out with the above-mentioned trivia question? The three teams the MVPs played for were the Detroit Tigers, the St. Louis Cardinals, and the Milwaukee Brewers.

•The WOBURN NATIONAL LITTLE LEAGUE (10-12) SOFTBALL TEAM fell just short of winning the state final game, losing to Westfield 7-6 at Kiley Park in Lynn.

Woburn attempted a comeback in the top of the sixth, when the team trailed 7-5, but was unable to put together the right combination to get a 'W'.

•Sun visors are tipped to Reading's DICK CROSBY, who won the Meadow Brook Club Championship recently at the age of 65. It is the sixth time that Crosby has won the tournament at the popular golf course, but the first time since 1986 after a number of second-place finishes. He shot a four-round 294, his best score ever in the championship.

•And speaking of the Meadow Brook course, yes that was GOVERNOR WILLIAM WELD playing golf in Reading last weekend. The Big Red One reportedly shot a 69 over nine holes, in only his fifth attempt at the game.

•ANSWER TO THIS WEEK'S TRIVIA QUESTION: Hank Greenberg (Tigers) won the award as a first baseman in 1935 and a left fielder in 1940; Stan Musial (Cardinals) won the award as a left fielder in 1943 and a first baseman in 1948; and Robin Yount (Brewers) won it as a shortstop in 1982 and a center fielder in 1989. Congratulations to those that answered the question correctly.

PERSONALITY WINNERS, Michelle Baker, Guilio Fauzza, Melinda Peterson, Bud and Vie Spence, Regina Pinto and Rocky Nelson, all of WOBURN.

David Galluzzo, Nicole Giambro, John Simas, Jr., Michael Maker, Derek Meehan and Kathleen Nowell, all of WINCHESTER.

Kevin Caruso, Caitlin Trowbridge, Kathleen Pesce, Heath White, Amy Shapiro and Kathryn Yoncher, all of BURLINGTON.

Laura Wilma Pierce, Joyce Cosentino, Christopher Erelli, Julie Beairsto, Beth Commito and Sarah Maher, all of READING.

Pet Photo Contest

The second annual Middlesex East "Pets and Their People" photo contest has been going on for the past several weeks and it will continue through August. The initial one last year attracted over 350 entries and a similar format will be followed this year, plus a new category entitled "Look-Alikes" for those who feel they have a photo in which their pet(s) have a very real resemblance to their owners.

The first contest last year was a huge success and lots of fun for us at Middlesex East and our readership. The number and originality of photos was terrific and we expect the same this time. Get your camera out or go thorough your old photos and get your entry in. Today we publish several of the photos that we feel are representative or the type our judges would like to see.

The first place winner in the competition will receive a $100 Gift Certificate at Perfect Pet in No. Reading, with second place receiving $50 cash plus an area rug from B&D Carpet in Burlington and third place receiving a $40 Gift Certificate to Harrow's Restaurant. The special "Look-Alikes" category winner will receive $100.

The rules of the competition are very simple and there will be a number of local drop-off spots for the photos and necessary information. The contest deadline for entries will be Friday, August 16th at 10:00 am. The winners will be announced on Wednesday, August 28th in the Middlesex East section of your local paper.

There are no restrictions on what type of animal photo may be entered, just that it be a pet. Entrants are cautioned to place pertinent information on the back of the photo including name of animal, name of owner, address including street and city/town and a telephone number. You can see the full rules for the competition elsewhere on this page.

Contest Rules
1. Entrants must submit one, 3" x 5" card or paper including name of photographer, name(s) of subjects in photo, age (if under 18) address, profession (optional), and daytime phone number, along with photo.
2. Name, address, and telephone number should be PRINTED on the back of all photos.
3. One photo per person may be submitted.
4. Every effort will be made to allow photos to be reclaimed at central locations to be announced following the contest.
5. Entrants consent that photos become the property of Middlesex East Publications and may be used by Middlesex East in future editions and/or promotions.
6. Entries must be received at below locations on or before Aug. 16, 1996. The decision will be published on Aug. 28, 1996.

VETERANS OF THE BULGE HOLD REUNION

The Veterans of the Battle of the Bulge, Inc. (VBOB) will hold an Annual Reunion in Hyannis, September 8-11. Reunions are held annually by VBOB to honor the Americans who served in the Battle of the Bulge and remember those who sacrificed their lives in this great battle.

VBOB is an international non profit organization which is composed of members who served in the World War II battle which rebuffed Hitler's strongest offensive and turned the tide of the war, their friends and family members, and history buffs. In its 15 year existence VBOB has enrolled over 14,000 members. It affords members the opportunity to renew and develop friendships, exchange information, and assist in initiating efforts to see that this battle is never forgotten.

The Battle of the Bulge has been called by many "America's greatest battle." It was fought during the bitter cold and snow of the heavily forested Ardennes area of eastern Belgium and northern Luxembourg from December 16, 1944 through January 25, 1945. Six hundred thousand American soldiers fought in this great battle with 81,000 resulting casualties, including 19,000 killed. General Patton while speaking to his generals on the strategy of the battle said, "If we live through this one, be forever grateful that you have brought with you, one of life's greatest moments.!"

In Hyannis a memorial plaque will be dedicated to all who served in the Battle of the Bulge. The memorial will be unveiled by Mrs. Jean E. Gavin, wife of General James M. Gavin, who was the youngest commander of an American Division - the 82nd Airborne - one of the over 400 units who served in the Battle of the Bulge. For further information, write to VBOB, PO Box 11129-P, Arlington, VA 22210-2129.

This Week... Reading

Elegant expanded cape

When a local developer built one of Reading's most prestigious subdivisions seven years ago, he selected the choicest cul de sac location on which to construct his very own dream house.

His aim was to build the finest home money could buy, employing the finest craftsmen and using only the best materials and components. The result is an exquisitely elegant expanded Cape whose quality is immediately evident as soon as one catches sight of the front facade, composed mostly of 4" thick hand-cut stone.

The center entrance leads one into a two-story grand foyer with a circular staircase sweeping dramatically to the second level. To the left of the entry foyer is the livingroom with 7-piece dentile molding, which is connected by french doors to a 19x14 study at the rear of the house whose 12' shadowbox window looks out on the wooded conservation land that abuts the property to the rear.

The present owners are bird lovers and are kept constantly entertained by the many species that come to feed.

Also at the rear of the house, appropriately situated in the center, is a 26x16 kitchen, resplendently equipped with Rutt cherry cabinets, Corian countertops, two quartz sinks, Subzero refrigerator, and a full array of top-grade appliances.

Also on the first level, at the other end of the kitchen, is a second foyer which leads to a side front entrance, a pantry in the rear, the stairway to the basement (with garage entrance on the landing) and half a flight up to a great room with cathedral ceiling, Palladium window in front, wet bar, floor-to-ceiling fireplace made of the same stone as the front facade, and doors leading to a rear deck.

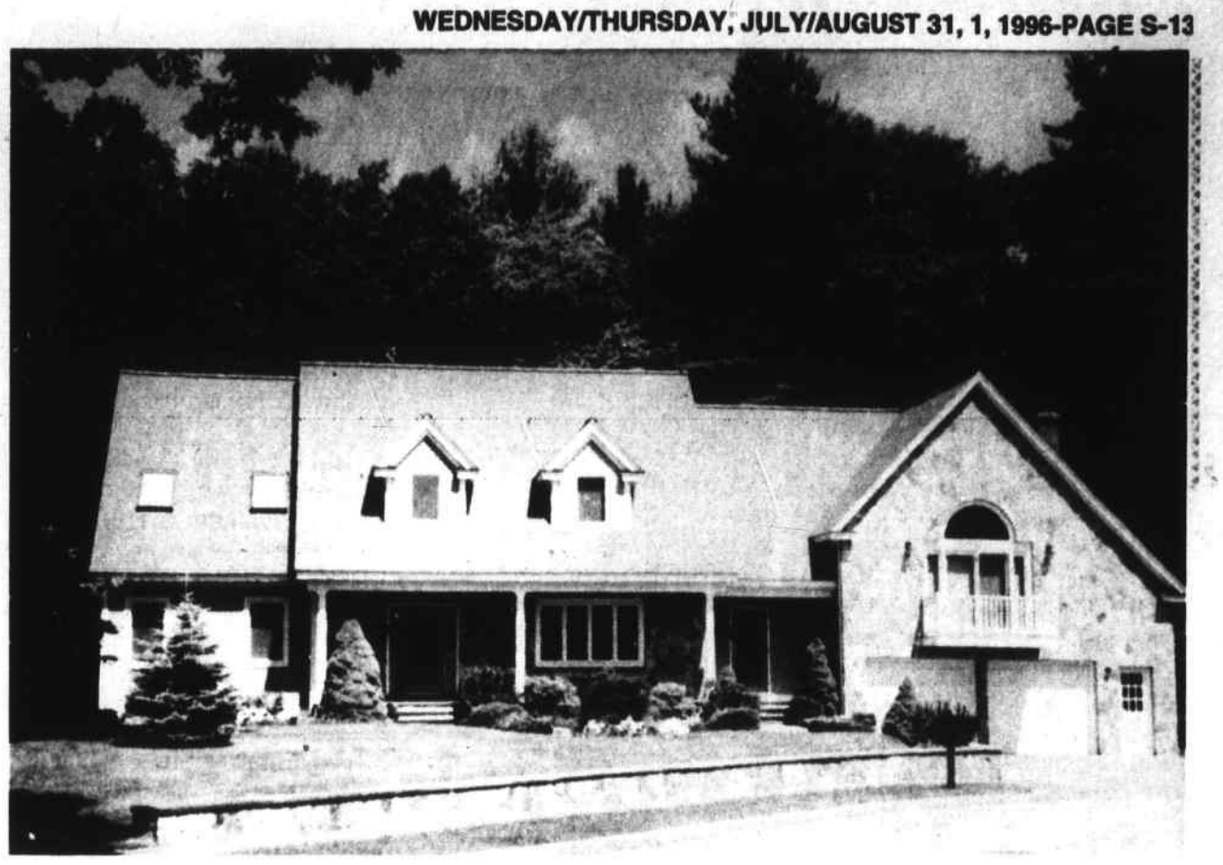

As if this were not enough, the lower level is finished and designed around the fun of the pool table.

We are sure we could charge an admission fee for tours of this magnificent home but all you need to do is call Colonial Manor Realty for your private viewing. Exclusively marketed by Colonial Manor Realty, with Myrna Tichenor as listing agent. Call (508) 664-5857.

— "A Time To Kill", Short Takes

A Time To Kill starring Sandra Bullock, Samuel L. Jackson, Matthew McConaughey, Kevin Spacer, Brenda Fricker, Oliver Platt, Charles S. Dutton, Ashley Judd, Patrick McGoohan, Donald Sutherland, Kiefer Sutherland. Directed by Joel Schumacher. Screenplay by Avika Goldsman. Produced by Arnon Milchan, Michael Nathanson, Hunt Lowry, John Grisham. Based on the novel by Grisham. Rated R.

This may be a condensed, cleaned-up slightly flawed version of John Grisham's novel, but it's a first rate film.

The telling has been slightly diluted, as not all of Grisham's colorful characters made it to the screen, and those who did have been somewhat Hollywoodized. Still, the acting, direction and script are intriguing enough to immediately draw you in, and each remains intelligent enough to keep you engrossed.

The film's opening was brilliantly, brutally shot by director Joel Schumacher, who presents a horrifying rape without ever showing it. Two greasy, white-skinned red-necks abduct a 10-year-old black girl, tie her up, beat her, violate her and leave her for dead. Her father, (Samuel L. Jackson) savagely blows the two rapists away, his shotgun loaded with vengeance. During his bloody retribution, the audience hears only the sounds of a hymn accentuated by gunfire. The heartsick father, played by Jackson with in-your-face savviness, is quickly put to trial, as are the racial standards of the New South.

Relative newcomer Matthew McConaughey landed a breakout role as the inexperienced, energetically idealistic defense lawyer. Looking like a young Paul Newman, the charismatic McConaughey easily convinces us of his good intentions and human foibles. One of those foibles arrives in the shape of a sexy, smart law student who insists on helping understaffed McConaughey with the case. Needless to say, she tempts the faithfully married lawyer to further muddle his already messy life.

Just as Bullock's eager law student is drawn to the case, so are gladhanders from the NAACP, murderous bigots from the KKK, and a news hungry media sniffing blood in the air. The case is exploited by all, even the minister at Jackson's poor little church, and it changes everyone involved. A strong point of the script is a willingness to unveil both the paradoxical workings of our judicial system and the humans who supposedly guide it.

For the most part, this is superbly acted, though one can hear an occasional lapse in those Mississippi accents. Bullock, playing it tough and urban, is enjoyable to watch, but offers nothing new. We've seen this person, this performance, before. Others in the cast deliver more of a stretch, such as Oliver Platt as a reprobate divorce lawyer who doesn't like to admit he's really a nice guy.

A spiffy-looking Brenda Fricker loses her Irish brogue in favor of a Southern drawl as a legal secretary accustomed to speaking her mind. Donald Sutherland,m finally playing something besides a psycho, displays much class as a sadly fraying, sweetly genteel old lawyer with an unquenchable thirst for bourbon.

Short Takes

The Frighteners is a disappointment after director Peter Jackson's last film, the lush "Heavenly Creatures." Michael J. Fox plays a phony spiritual detective who is overwhelmed by the special effects and underwhelmed by the lightweight script. There are some good lines, interesting characters and wonderful effects. However, the story is more transparent than the spooks and the direction is little more than a choreography of the special effects. Rated R. **

Joe's Apartment was once an MTV short about dancing cockroaches, and it should have stayed that way. What is comically off-center for 20 minutes becomes boring at an hour and 20 minutes, especially if those chorus lines of dancing roaches are searching for the script. Rated PG-13. *1/2 .

Kingpin isn't as moronic, or even as scatological as "Dumb and Dumber," but it's too similar to be enjoyable. Woody Harrelson is an aging, almost-been bowling champ seeking redemption with Amish greenhorn Randy Quaid. There are certainly some laughs, though most are lowbrow, and Bill Murray just about steals the film as an egotistical bowling pro. However, this is often groaningly silly, and the well-meant, but unfathomably sappy ending only makes matters worse. Rated PG-13. **

Courage Under Fire is a modern day "Rashomon," in which different views of a military death are presented as both a mystery and a moral dilemma. Denzel Washington plays an emotionally distraught and complex army investigator who must decide if Meg Ryan deserves a posthumous Medal of Honor. Sensitively and intelligently directed by Edward Zwiek, this is entertaining food for thought in a summer fraught with cinema silliness. Rated R.  1/2

Independence Day is no small and personal tale of global destruction and alien invasion, but a monstrous epic that tries to cover all the bases in the most Hollywood of traditions. You definitely get a bang for your buck, but there's no avoiding some typically glib dialogue and uneven pacing. However, miniatures and models are smoothly married to computer animation, the action is very involving, and many of the characters are amusingly written and portrayed. Bet you never thought the end of the world could be so much fun. Rated PG-13.  1/2

OLIVER PLATT, SANDRA BULLOCK AND MATTHEW MCCONAUGHEY star in "A Time To Kill", based on the best-selling novel by John Grisham.

The Nutty Professor, a laborious comedy about an obese professor who discovers an instant slimming potion, is not the move to resuscitate Eddie Murphy's stagnate career. Filled with cruel and scatological humor, the only redeeming features are superb special effects and Murphy's ability to play no less than seven different characters. The technical finesse is a plus, but true wit and compassion would have been more welcome than gross-out jokes. Rated PG-13.

Phenomenon stars John Travolta as an average Joe who's struck by a white light and becomes an instant genius, frightening his friends and intriguing the government. His performance is quite moving, as it's both sweet and heartfelt. Travolta is matched by a fine supporting cast including Robert Duvall, Forest Whitaker and Kyra Sedgwick, but the pace is too, too slow and the dramatic moments are overplayed. Rated PG. ***

Eraser proves that a movie can be made with sophisticated special effects, non-stop action, and little personality. Arnold Schwarzenegger is a U.S. Marshal who helps Vanessa Williams disappear into the Witness Protection program. Don't expect any romance, or even a sparkle of life between these two or anybody in the movie, as this may be technically exciting, but is also emotionally hollow. Rated R. **

The Hunchback of Notre Dame is more than just a pleasant surprise, it's an outright treat. Though too dark and complex for younger children, this tale of an outsider gaining acceptance from his community, and from himself, is wonderfully told Of course, it bears no resemblance to the Victor Hugo classic, but is funny and wise and entertaining, from the songs to the animation to the dialogue. Rated G ****
